Russian Shakeup Places Zhukov At Head Of Military

MOSCOW, Feb. 9 (AP)—Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov, Russia's most glittering war hero, became head of the Soviet Union's armed forces today in a continuing shakeup of the regime. The conqueror of Berlin, designated defense minister, was among a number of army figures moving into the spotlight against a background of tough foreign policy pronouncements.

Through the Supreme Soviet (Parliament) the Soviet Union addressed a declaration to all parliaments of the world, warning that Europe "could become the arena of a new war" if the Western nations carry through plans to arm West Germany.

The new Premier, Marshal Nikolai A. Bulganin, handsome in his marshal's uniform, nominated Zhukov to succeed him as defense minister. He also nominated the deposed Premier, Georgi M. Malenkov, to be minister of power stations as well as a deputy premier, a big conedown for Malenkov but still an important government position.

The historic joint session of the Supreme Soviet's 1,300 members accepted both nominations—as they had accepted selection of Bulganin Tuesday—with a show of hands and stormy applause.

Zhukov, once in relative eclipse in the postwar Stalin days, emerged to great prominence after Stalin's death. He was a wartime acquaintance of President Eisenhower, then Allied commander in chief, in Germany and the two have spoken words of mutual esteem.

The session turned the spotlight on another World War II military hero, Marshal Ivan S. Konev, also emerging to greater prominence. Konev headed the military court which condemned police boss L. P. Beria to death in December, 1953, in a purge of the Soviet Union's secret police system.

"Our army," said Konev, "represents a mighty force which fully answers the demands and characteristics of modern war. If the imperialists dare to attack our motherland, the Soviet armed forces have at their disposal all kinds of weapons for the complete defeat of the aggressors."

A similar tone was set Tuesday in a major foreign policy statement by Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, providing the background for the Soviet appeal drawing attention of the world's parliaments to "the situation in Europe."

Eisenhower Declares Nation Continues To Seek Peace May Invite Zhukov To U.S.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (AP)—President Eisenhower declared today America will remain alert and continue to pursue peace through strength in the face of a Soviet shakeup he interpreted as an expression of internal "dissatisfaction."

In a spur of the moment reply to a news conference query, Eisenhower also said he would not

Senate Okays Defense Pact For Formosa

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (AP)—The Senate, by the overwhelming vote of 64-6 tonight ratified the Formosa defense treaty.

The pact, signed with the Chinese Nationalist regime of Chiang Kai-shek, commits the United States to defend Formosa, Chiang's bastion, and the nearby Pescadore, against the Chinese Reds.

The Senate vote was far in excess of the constitutional requirement that treaties must obtain approval of two thirds of those voting. The Senate decision completed action, since treaties are not submitted to the House. The Chinese have already ratified.

Tonight's vote was the second recent notice to the Chinese Communists to keep hands off Formosa which they have vowed to take. On Jan. 28 the Senate completed congressional action on a resolution authorizing President Eisenhower to fight if necessary to defend Formosa, the Pescadores and "related positions."

Under this authority the 7th Fleet is now engaged in redeploying Nationalist forces, screening their evacuation from the Tachen Islands 200 miles north of Formosa.

The lopsided approval of the Formosa treaty followed relatively brief debate. The six senators who voted "no" were Chavez (D-NM), Gore (D-Tenn), Kefauver (D-Tenn), Lehman (D-Lib. NY), Langer (R-ND) and Morse (Ind-Ore).

Chinese Army Quits Tachens

TAIPEI, Formosa, Thursday, Feb. 10 (AP)—Chinese troops began quitting the scorched earth of the Tachens yesterday under guns of the U.S. 7th Fleet standing between them and nearby Red islands, press reports said.

The touchy situation was underscored by the loss of a Navy Skyraider shot down by Communist ground guns yesterday when it wandered off course west of the Tachens. Its three-man crew was rescued.

Fethermans Take Refuge With Wolberts

MR. AND MRS. Fred A. Fetherman are still trying to recover from the shock of having their 2½ story frame home at 1104 Dreher Ave. wiped out by an explosion and fire yesterday afternoon.

The Fethermans are currently living at the nearby home of their nephew and niece, Police Officer and Mrs. Richard Wolbert on Fetherman St. before deciding on future plans. They have already received numerous offers of living quarters from throughout the area.

All that had been salvaged from the wreckage last night was a damaged television set, a damaged washing machine, a shaving mug once owned by Fetherman's father, a Bible and a broken vase. Fetherman retained a pair of trousers which he had at the cleaners. Otherwise all clothing was lost except what the couple was wearing at the time.

Fetherman, who had grown up in the house formerly owned by his parents, said he did not know the cause of the explosion. He told The Daily Record he had no paint, chemicals or other inflammable materials to cause it and agreed that his furnace could not have been responsible. The owner added the house was "fairly well covered" by insurance.

He explained various small blasts after the main one as his ammunition going off. This included two boxes of ball load and shotgun shells.

Besides all the household furnishings and treasured possessions, $300 in cash, fur coats, considerable jewelry, bank books and receipts since Monday from Fetherman's Paint Store on Main St. were lost in the destruction of the eight-room house. The flying debris also ruined the Kitchen home eight yards to the west. Pieces of wreckage were strewn throughout the neighborhood and also seen dangling from trees.

The Fetherman home was 40 feet high. It included a 28-foot living room, 19 x 15 foot kitchen, pantry and dining room on the first floor plus four bedrooms and a bath on the second floor. Fetherman and being doing the entire house over and had only the dining room left. "It was a beautiful place," Mrs. Fetherman lamented.

Mrs. Fetherman was just returning from helping at her husband's store and was walking up what is known as "Fetherman's Alley" behind the house when the explosion occurred. She stood and looked not realizing at first it was her own home and then met her nephew Wolbert who told her "You better get out of here." She made her way to her niece's home while looking back at where her home formerly stood.

"I may have been in there if I had walked up Dreher Ave. like I usually do when I come home but I decided to cut through the alley his time to visit my niece," she remarked. "Everyone was looking for me thinking I was in there. I guess God was with me," she added.

Mrs. Fetherman told of going into the basement to put coal in the stove at 9:30 a.m. before leaving for the store. "Everything was o.k. then," she remembered. She left for the store at 10:30 and started the return walk at 2:15 p.m. Shortly afterward her house was gone. One of Mrs. Fetherman's first worries after the explosion was for her close neighbor Mrs. Nettie Kitchen. She told of seeing homes blown off their foundations before while living in the coal region.

The Fetherman home was heated by a coal furnace and the water was heated by means of a gas heater in the cellar.

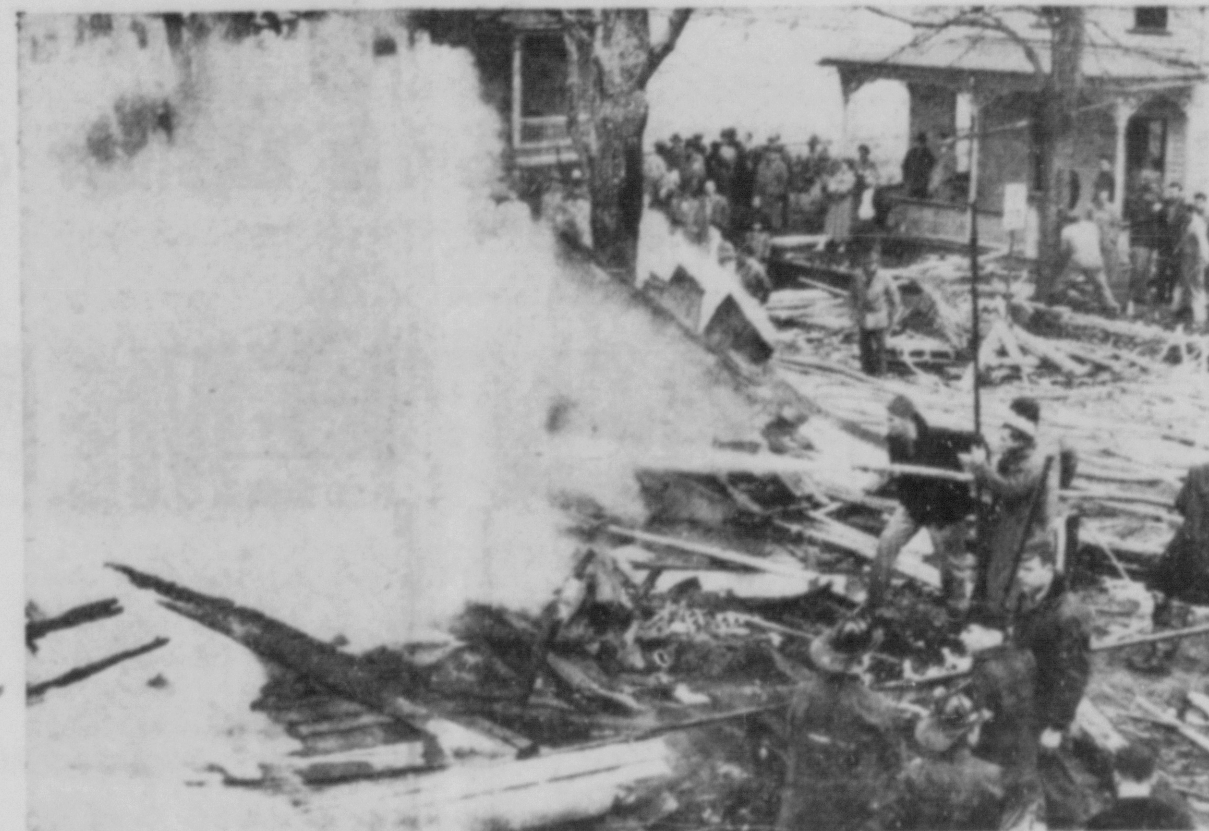

Only their car was saved as Fetherman had it with him at the store. Their garage, which was raised off its foundations as were others, was empty at the time of the blast.

Nehru Appeals To Red China

LONDON, Feb. 9 (AP)—India's Premier Nehru appealed today to Red China to hold off on any attempt to invade Formosa.

Nehru told a news conference India and the great powers, including Russia, are exchanging ideas on how to end the China fighting. Among these is a suggestion for a Geneva-type conference outside the United Nations.

"But there is nothing definite," he added.

WRECKAGE OF FRED FETHERMAN HOME lies strewn and jumbled across Dreher Ave. while Stroudsburg firemen pour water onto charred and flaming remains. Despite tremendous blast, flying glass, debris, and exploding ammunition, no one was hurt seriously. Fetherman was at work when blast came. His wife was minutes from death—walking down the alley at rear of her home. (Staff Photo by Olwyler)

Boards Study Two Proposals For Jointure

MOUNT POCONO — School directors from seven Monroe County districts met last night to explore two separate proposals for combined school facilities.

One of the proposals has been approved—with persistence — by the State Department of Public Instruction and its sub-divisions.

The second proposal has been recommended—repeatedly—by the Monroe County Board of School Directors.

At last night's meeting, the school boards decided to discuss the two proposals at their own board sessions, then pass resolutions placing them unofficially on record in favor of either the State or county board recommendations.

Districts represented at last night's meeting, held in Mount Pocono's elementary school building, were: Tunkhannock, Tobyhanna, Coolbaugh, Pocono, Barrett and Paradise townships and Mount Pocono borough.

Walter H. Sebring, representing county Superintendent John C. Little, was in charge of the meeting.

The basic differences between the two proposals were outlined. These points of difference will be discussed in greater detail in later issues of The Daily Record.

Briefly, however, the differences are these:

The State Council of Education has refused to give approval to the county-recommended plan. The council has insisted on a single, overall "administrative unit" for the townships which make up the mountain areas of Monroe county.

The State Council plan calls for one unit—dubbed Unit No. 2 in the map plan drawn up—which would include Barrett, Paradise, Coolbaugh, Tobyhanna, Jackson, Tunkhannock, Pocono and Mount Pocono in Monroe County and Buck Township in Luzerne.

Actually, the inclusion of Buck Township is no change over the "primary system of education now employed. Buck secondary students attend Tobyhanna Township School on a tuition basis.

The State Council insists that this large, overall unit is necessary to establish a workable and practicable administrative system. It would come closer to the State-recommended 1600 student unit.

County board members, however, have continued to oppose the State recommendation year after year for one basic reason: Transportation problems.

County directors have pointed out that transporting pupils from the far end of Buck Township—for example — to a centralized school system would be prohibitive in cost and in time consumed in getting the child to and from school.

This is the only argument board members have used in fighting the State plan.

The county board's plan would set up two units instead of one. Unit No. 2 of the county plan would consist of Tunkhannock, Tobyhanna, Coolbaugh and Buck Townships. Unit No. 3 would be made up of Mount Pocono, Jackson, Pocono, Barrett and Paradise.

The State disapproves of this plan because the resultant education system would not meet equality standards set up by the council.

See Page 5 For Complete Picture Story Of Explosion

A FULL PAGE of pictures taken during the height of the explosion-fire that destroyed the Fred Fetherman home yesterday appears on Page 5 of The Daily Record today.

The picture story, telling more graphically than words can describe the devastation wrought by the blast, is the work of two staff photographers, Les Carlton and Peter Olwyler. Both men, together with other Record newsmen, were on the scene shortly after the explosion occurred.

Mrs. Newell Remains Cool; Shuts Off Oil Burner And Rescues Dog After Blast

MRS. SHILDON V. NEWELL was in her basement yesterday when the explosion next door turned her kitchen and parts of her home to a mass of jagged wreckage.

The smashed clock, blown off the kitchen wall, showed the time: 2:28.

Mrs. Newell was alone in the place. She had been cutting a piece of silk to recover an umbrella.

The blast at the Fred A. Fetherman residence literally rocked the Newell place. Mrs. Newell said she thought at once of an oil burner explosion. She shut off the oil burner, then dashed up the cellar stairs to the wrecked kitchen.

Dust and black smoke was billowing out of the place next door — or what was left of it, she said. She grabbed the 16-year-old family dog, too ancient and venerable to run for himself, and went out of the house.

Her husband, an awning and Venetian blinds dealer, was working with his son Jack, making an installation at a store on Fifth St.

A neighbor got word to him by telephone. All he knew was that the fire was "out Dreher Ave."

The elder Newell went first. When he got there he found the Fetherman place a mass of flat flames, and firemen hosing down the side of his own charred home.

Firemen told them of arriving and seeing Mrs. Newell calmly carrying belongings out of the house, preparing for the worst.

Young Newell arrived soon after his father as news spread through the borough of the extent and location of the damage.

A neighbor from down the block, Sheldon Vaughn, 1092 Dreher Ave., was one of the first on the scene. He turned off the Newell's water and electricity to eliminate any hazards there.

The force of the explosion had hurled two long boards at the Newell home. The boards had lanced through the heavy siding and underboard, and remained jutting halfway through the walls like spears.

Plaster was ripped completely off the side of the house which faced the explosion. Most of the force appeared to have hit the kitchen.

Casements dangled in their places. Glass was blown to fragments. Lath stood bare and splintered. Kitchen drawers had been knocked loose or open from sink and tables. Cupboards were smashed. Debris, electric clocks and electric mixers, kitchen utensils, boxes of cereal, water from the firehoses, paper, hunks of plaster, wreckage blown into the room from next door, all mingled on the wrecked furniture and floor. The heavy electric stove was buckled.

Fred Fetherman Home Destroyed; Woman Is Cut

AN EXPLOSION blew a Stroudsburg house to splinters yesterday, wrecked two neighboring homes and damaged a half dozen more.

Concussion fanned out from 1104 Dreher Ave., shattering windows by the score and bringing alarmed residents into the streets three quarters of a mile away.

Unbelievably, no one was killed and only one neighbor was hurt—cut by flying glass and bruised when a door was blown on top of her.

She was Mrs. Nettie E. Kitchen, living next door to the shattered Fred A. Fetherman home.

Mrs. Fetherman was walking through an alley at the rear of her house when the tremendous blast almost hurled her from her feet. She started toward the house, saw the roof crashing to the ground.

Black smoke and dust poured into the air in clouds from all sides of the collapsed structure. For a moment there were no flames.

It was 2:28 p.m.

In the next 30 minutes stunned neighbors were picking glass out of their hair and laps, making frantic telephone calls to husbands and sons, and firemen of the Stroudsburg Co. were conquering the flaming residue of the blast with powerful columns of surging water.

The concussion played tricks with wood and steel, snapped 16-inch-thick hardwood timbers like toothpicks in the Kitchen house, bulged solid brick walls, tore rents in plaster ones, knocked window frames loose, hurled debris and boards for blocks.

Firemen's quick arrival and knowhow were credited with preventing even more extensive fire damage to neighboring houses.

First thing the volunteers did on arrival was to hook up lines with the Main St. hydrants so there would be more pressure and water available for the major fire.

Next they battled to protect the S. V. Newell house on the west side of the Fetherman property. Intense heat from the flaming wreckage of the Fetherman place peeled white paint off the side of the Newell house, charred the clapboards. Firemen doused the flames there under streams from fire hoses. Other volunteers were doing the same successful job at the Kitchen home.

Big supporting columns and large pieces of the Fetherman front porch were blown across the street, thudding against the homes on the south side of Dreher Ave.

Windows were broken as far away as the John DeVivo home at 1082 Dreher Ave. — about four houses in from Main St.

The blast rattled panes for miles around. The concussion was felt by workmen in the Hughes Printing plant in East Stroudsburg . . . and was even reported by a man in Cherry Valley who didn't find out until later what had happened.

Hard on the heels of firemen came utility workers — from the Bell Telephone Co., the power companies and Citizens Gas Co. — Almost before the smoke had cleared telephone men were splicing cable to restore disrupted telephone service to the area and points to the west.

Crews from Citizens Gas Co. swiftly dug down through the street to the gas main in front of 1090 Dreher Ave., and again in front of the Kitchen home at the corner of Dreher and Fetherman St.

Paul Hart, gas company manager, said his men were shutting off the gas between these two points, and would then be able to make tests. Other gas users in the neighborhood would not be affected by the shut-off, he said — only the homes between the two points.

The gas company manager said later, "We're taking every precaution in case it was gas — but we don't know whether it was gas." He said company service men were digging down to expose the gas main and would check it for any damage.

"We will make an extensive investigation," Hart said, and added that servicemen would be working until disrupted service was restored to normal.

The 70-odd firemen who poured in to the scene from all over the Stroudsburgs had finished their job, rolled up hose and were back at the firehouse by 6:30 p.m. — four hours from start to finish.

Chief Millard Marsh said he "had ideas" about the cause of the blaze, but "I'm not making any statement for publication — not now, anyway."

The chief said he had sent a request for investigation by State fire marshal Donald Unger of Hazleton. Unger sent word to Police Chief

Mrs. Kitchen Hurt; House Walls Buckled

THE DISASTROUS explosion which completely demolished the Dreher St. home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fetherman also took its toll on other houses throughout the area yesterday afternoon.

The large, brick home of Mrs. Nettie Kitchen, 73, located at the corner of Dreher Ave. and Fetherman St. and next door to the former Fetherman home, was the most serious of these.

Walls throughout the building were buckled and windows blown in by the terrific impact. Mrs. Kitchen's son Thomas commented it would be cheaper to tear down the house and replace it than attempt to make repairs. The brick structure is over 75 years old.

Mrs. Nettie Kitchen

Mrs. Kitchen, her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James Kitchen and Paul Ackerman, a son-in-law, were all in the house when the blast occurred. The elder Mrs. Kitchen was the only one injured. She suffered a bruised and lacerated back and had X-rays taken at the General Hospital.

"I was in the kitchen when I heard an explosion," stated the still shocked Mrs. Kitchen. "All my cabinets and windows came off and the kitchen door blew off. I never heard anything like it and all this stuff coming down. I didn't know what had happened," she added.

James Kitchen was about to shave when the house was struck. Ackerman was mixing paint in the cellar.

"He said: 'All the windows blew in. I just couldn't get my bearings for a few minutes. The dust was flying all around. I had to force my body against the cellar door to get it open. I ran upstairs to find my mother-in-law and sat her in a chair.'"

The Ackermans and Mrs. Kitchen resided on the ground floor of the two-story structure. The James Kitchen lived in a rear apartment. All will reside with relatives while determining future living arrangements.

James F. McConnell in Stroudsburg that he would be down "at the first opportunity."

McConnell said he has ordered borough police to maintain a continuing patrol at the explosion site to prevent any looting or theft.

The fire chief was unable even to make a guess at damages. "There's too much involved. The one house gone completely, those other two wrecked, and all the houses with broken glass . . ." he said. "We'll have to wait to figure up the damages."

Strong Advance Pushes Stocks To Record Level

NEW YORK, Feb. 9 (P) — The stock market in one of its strongest advances of the past 15 years today sent the Associated Press average of 60 stocks racing ahead to the highest level in its history.

Today's vigorous rally followed a deep drop yesterday on the heels of Russia's unexpected reshuffle of its high command.

Brokers felt that the market had acted well in the face of a piece of news of world significance. Nervous stockholders quickly sold. Stocks remained in strong hands.

Today when the market began to climb shortly after the opening, there was a hurried reassessment of the market's position and buying began. It snowballed into a major rally in the fourth hour and continued strong to the close in a new surge of investor confidence.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks jumped up $2.30 at $158.10. The rise was the strongest since the market advanced $2.60 on the day after the election last November. That rise in turn was the best since early in September of 1929 when World War II was getting underway.

The industrial component of the average was ahead $2.60 at a new high of $217.50, utilities were up 90 cents at a new high of $76.60, and railroads were up $2.30 at $121.10, a level not far from a new high.

The Dow-Jones industrial component of its 65-stock average attained its highest level since 1929 on Nov. 23, 1929, and today reached a new all-time high. The 65-stock average, which was not maintained in 1929, is currently slightly under its all-time high reached Jan. 2, this year.

Neither the 100-stock average of the New York Herald Tribune nor the average of 50 combined stocks of the New York Times broke through to new all-time highs today.

All sections of the market had a hand in the advance today. Aircrafts and steels were especially weak yesterday, and these two sections were among the first to rally today. They were joined by railroads, utilities, metals, oils, chemicals, airlines, and a long list of other securities.

There were 1,229 individual issues traded of which 815 advanced and 296 declined with 105 new highs and 1 new low for 1934-35 touched. Volume came to 3,360,000 shares. That compares with 3,400,000 shares traded yesterday. Electric & Musical Industries was the day's most active issue up 1/4 at 4 1/4 on 127,700 shares. The American Stock Exchange was higher on volume of 1,150,000 easy.

Free Chest Survey Film To Be Furnished Maternity Cases By County TB Society

MONROE COUNTY TUBERCULOSIS Society yesterday announced it will provide a free chest survey film of every maternity case in Monroe County.

Letters to all physicians in the county were mailed yesterday under the signatures of H. G. Heller, president, and Dr. Paul Shiffer, a director and chairman of the society's special X-ray committee, offering for the first time in history this new public health service.

The X-ray machine, purchased by the society at a cost of $6,000 out of Christmas Seal sale funds, is now functioning in a special room at General Hospital to provide chest screening X-rays for every patient admitted to the hospital.

The modern equipment is owned by the TB Society and operates at the hospital under agreement with the board of directors of the institution and its staff.

The new project would operate in this manner:

Each patient, as soon as pregnancy is established, would receive a note from the physician on a prescription blank to the X-ray department at General Hospital, requesting a pre-natal chest survey film.

The patient would go to the hospital, have the four by five inch screening film taken on the Chest X-ray machine, and some time later the patient's physician would be advised of the results.

The TB Society seeks cooperation of all physicians so that every maternity case will receive the chest survey film as soon as pregnancy is established.

This completely new service by the TB Society is an "extra" service and does not take the place of the hospital admission chest X-ray to be taken at the time of delivery six or seven months later.

Basically the TB Society's goal is to demonstrate for at least one year the importance of a tuberculosis detection measure.

The statistics and reports involved in the project will be available to every physician in Monroe County.

Every physician receiving the letter covering details of the project is advised that the project is operative with receipt of the letters.

Autos, Wider and Longer

News item out of Washington the other day reported on the troubles of J. George Stewart, architect for the Capitol Building. Mr. Stewart is under pressure all the time to provide parking space in the Capitol's underground garage for the autos of Senate and House members. But the space has been shrinking—garage has lost spots for 17 cars since 1951.

Dubious Business

Apparently the Immigration Service, as well as Congress, has been guilty of laxity in deporting undesirable aliens.

Commissioner Joseph M. Swing has acknowledged as much, adding that some of his staff had gotten into the habit of "succumbing to pressure" from congressmen and other Government officials.

Pressure of this sort, whether successful or not, is a smelly business.

It always is possible, of course, that an innocent alien will find himself about to be deported. But there is the last resort of a special act of Congress, few members of which would turn down a deserving case.

That, Mr. Stewart explains, is because autos are getting wider and longer.

And just to prove the point, check on the difficulty you have opening a door in the metered area, or even better, be sure to get to the Auto Show at the Armory Friday and Saturday for a real close-up of the size of the gleaming new cars.

It is the abuse of that privilege—out-right protection of guilty men by congressmen themselves—that led to current efforts by Rep. Walter Easton, Pa., Democrat, to block the so-called "stinker" bills. Through some of these bills, undesirable aliens have been permitted to remain in the country for years after being ordered deported, even though the bills themselves never were passed by Congress.

The 15 such bills killed recently, together with Commissioner Swings' promise to tighten his operation, indicate that we are getting somewhere in the matter. And about time!

The Clogged Up Courts

Back of the simmering idea that the Chief Justice, every so often, should deliver a "state of the judiciary" address to a joint session of Congress is an unquestionably serious situation.

The Federal courts are disgracefully behind with their work.

The reasons are several: An increasing load of cases, an inadequate number of judges, insufficient facilities in some instances, and, in other instances, lazy or ailing judges.

Most of these reasons, obviously, pose problems for Congress, which raises and appropriates the money for all branches of the Government.

Some eminent judges, lawyers and congressmen, alarmed by this situation, advocate the appearance of the Chief Justice before Congress as a means of dramatizing the plight of the courts, and gaining public support for funds and measures to meet the needs.

The real issue here is not so much how the facts of the judiciary's predicament are presented to Congress, but that they are presented, fully and effectively.

It is the duty of Congress, under the Constitution, to provide an adequate court system. Even-handed justice is the foundation of our country. When it takes as long as four years to get a case to trial, justice is being denied.

The heart of the issue is not the comfort or pay of the judges, but a fair shake for litigants. And that's the light in which Congress urgently needs to tackle the problem, regardless of whether the facts are served up ceremoniously by the Chief Justice or otherwise.

Fanatics About Fluoridation Do Not Explain Why It Should Not Be Sold

Most people know as little about fluoridation as I do. Most of those who favor it and oppose it are and are littered with propaganda on both sides would find it difficult to explain why anyone should get all hot and bothered about this business of pouring another poison into our water. For our health, our water has already been chlorinated and the real effect is to give it so horrible a taste that alcoholism is on the increase. Whenever I taste water that has been manhandled by a chlorinator, I understand why the late Heywood Brown preferred gin.

So now they are to put fluorides into our water to save our teeth. My suspicions are naturally aroused because so many dentists are for it. They must have grown eloquent of late to favor something that they claim will put them out of business. As I have no teeth of my own, perfect teeth are of small moment to me personally, but I too can be eloquent and favor something that benefits someone else, if it does.

The question that arises in my mind is, suppose 10 or 20 years from now, the professors change their minds about fluoridation. Suppose they say that instead of saving teeth, it harms something else. So I read an article in the "Scientific American," entitled "A Study of the Anti-Scientific Attitude," and discovered that the authors, Bernard and Judith Mautner, agree with Senator Fulbright that there is a "swinish blight of anti-intellectualism," and that whoever says that if you want to use fluorides for the teeth, get it in a bottle at the drugstore instead of in the water-works, is an aforesaid swinish anti-intellectual. This broad generalization reminds me of the anti-Fascists who denounced everyone who despised Stalin as pro-Fascist, and the anti-Communists who believe that everyone who reads the "Daily Worker" is a Communist.

In a word, here is supposed to be learned writing on a technical subject which I pick up to inform myself and find in the first paragraph a polemic on the distrust of "intellectuals," which has nothing to do with the subject. I am sure that the Mautners, whoever they may be, regard themselves as intellectuals but I doubt whether they can write learnedly on the moral systems of Maimonides, Thomas Aquinas, Spinoza and Kant and, if they cannot, I shall everlastingly deny them the title of "intellectuals." Also, unless they can write several thousand words on the romantic period in music and unless they can speak authoritatively on the influence of Wagner on Verdi's "Otello," I shall mark them down as having no right to wear the Sign of the Egg-head.

The trouble with a fellow who becomes fanatical about such a subject as fluoridation is that while he can explain why poison, if taken in small doses, might do no damage, or might even be beneficial, like opium, if one has a headache, he does not explain why it should not be sold in a drugstore so that the fellow who does not care for the stuff is not obligated to have it in his coffee. The answer, of course, is that it is a poison.

In a free society, no one ought to be forced to do what he chooses not to do, just as a Christian Scientist may eschew a physician, or a Jew, pork. These choices are made on religious grounds and therefore are protected by the Constitution, but fluoridation is advocated by dentists and social workers and therefore the Constitution may not be invoked to protect them.

I know much about teeth, not having any anymore. The question has always been in my mind whether I lost my teeth or the dentist lost them. I remember once being advised to use some stuff as a mouth rinse and then reading a learned paper by another dentist on how this particular stuff softens the gums. How does one get his teeth back after his dentist gives him a free sample of a gum-softer?

Reasonable people recognize that in a free society there ought to be room for some freedom of choice. Suppose a citizen does not want perfect teeth if he has to get it by drinking poison in small doses. He ought to have a choice. And the rest might buy their fluorides in a drugstore.

Television Pants For Men Latest Silly Deal

If there is a How-Silly-Can-They-Get? research study under way anywhere I trust that its sponsors took due notice of the recent gaudy tidings from the Paris la-bou-dah salons.

Latest thing on the high-fashion front, it appears, is "television pants." The top couturiers are showing fancy creations in this line—fur, jersey, satin, and velvet numbers, prettied up with ankle cuffs, embroidered creases, taffeta sashes and coquettish knee bows.

These costumes are not for people who work in television but for those who watch it. "Around-the-house wear on cozy winter evenings" is the way their function is described.

The report I read says they are "feminine in cut and fabric and built both for comfort and glamour" of the "slim-hipped boyish figure" variety. From that I guess it's safe to infer, for the moment, that they are intended primarily for women.

They'd better be. Comes the day when I have to wear fancy pants to watch Yukon Eric rattle Gorgeous George, television is through so far as I am concerned.

I don't want to be unreasonable and will go so far as to straighten my tie for "Omibus"—but that's my limit.

Generally speaking, we run a come-as-you-are living room at our place. Not even any special tables for ladies. And that's the way I like it.

But only the naive would underestimate the frailty of women when it comes to fashion. What they like and what they are willing to go along with are often two different things.

So if the expensive dressmakers say they can't look at TV without they wear TV pants, TV pants they will wear. Or else they won't look.

My wife usually goes away and reads when the television set is on, because she thinks most of the stuff on it is stinky. I argue that this attitude is a bit arbitrary and that some of the TV fare isn't half bad.

But where am I left for argument if she can say she can't watch television because she hasn't a thing to wear?

It is only fair to warn the fashion arbiters that decreeing a special costume for every room in the house is going to make family life eventually too complicated to be worth the effort.

That very kind of dictatorial interference already has had its shrinking effect on the average person's range of interests. We have become a nation of spectators not so much because we wouldn't like to participate in the amusing activities we watch but because we've let people with axes to grind convince us that it isn't genteel to play golf, fish, go swimming, bowl, play ball or whatnot without the "correct" clothes and equipment.

As more spectators must we now submit to special rigging just to sit and stare?

Oswald Jacoby, the card wizard, did a hitch with the Navy in the Far East a few years back. One day he was introduced to a group of Army engineers who were wrestling with a big transportation problem. Heavy floods had played havoc with their pontoon bridges.

"Who's that Navy galoot?" whispered the head man of the engineers. "Oswald Jacoby," answered his aide. "He's probably the greatest bridge expert in the world." "Well, get him out of here," roared the Army man. "Nobody from the Navy's going to tell me how to build bridges!"

The mid-European diplomat was explaining Washington etiquette to his new assistant. "Remember that in these parts," he warned, "no lady is ever fat. She is just a little short for her weight."

In 1936 two Americans—George Harbo and Frank Samuelson—rowed across the Atlantic Ocean in an 18-foot open boat. They used only oars—no sails, no motor. Their 3,200-mile row took them 63 days.

Democratic Chairman Gets Demands On Pocketbook

Washington, Feb. 10.—Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler is hit where it hurts—in the pocketbook.

The party's Congressional leaders are pressuring him to turn over to their own campaign organization a large part of the National Committee's share of the proceeds from the Jefferson-Jackson Day dinners getting under way throughout the country.

Last year the National Committee netted upwards of $500,000 from these rallies.

In fact, without this income the Committee would have had to shut up shop. Not only have these funds kept the headquarters functioning, but they enabled former Chairman Steve Mitchell to pay off $800,000 in debt from the 1952 defeat.

The congressional chiefs now want at least half of this money to be set aside for the particular use of the Senate and House Democratic Campaign Committee in the 1956 election battle. Behind this demand are two pressing factors:

(1) These campaign committees have been very hard up in the last few years; they were broke in 1954 until Mitchell voluntarily gave them $100,000 made from the big dinner in Washington. (2) Around 15 per cent (32 out of 231) House Democrats were elected last year by the close margin of five or less per cent of the votes in their districts. The Republicans have nearly twice as many of these so-called Marginal districts—63.

Speaker Sam Rayburn put the proposal up to Chairman Butler. Rayburn did this with the full backing of Senate Leader Lyndon Johnson, Texas, and Representative Mike Kirwan, Ohio, head of the House Campaign Committee.

"All the emphasis next year will be on the presidential race," Rayburn told Butler, "which will make it doubly difficult for us to retain our majorities in Congress. That's what happened in 1952. If we had had more money then, we might have kept control of Congress. Even with Eisenhower heading the Republican ticket, they barely won the House and Senate. So we will need all the help we can get, and now is the time to start preparing for that." Butler made no secret of his surprise. The Indian had been National Chairman only one month, and this demand was wholly unexpected. The National Committee has plenty of financial difficulties of its own without taking on any others. Butler explained this to Rayburn.

"We have no reserves," Butler said. "We are living from hand to mouth and from month to month. We are almost entirely dependent on the Committee's share of the profits from these dinners. We get half, and the state and local organizations get half. But I'll study your request and see what can be worked out. If anything, it's a difficult situation. I understand and sympathize fully with your problem, but the National Committee also has to keep operating. Obviously, what we have to do is to find campaign funds for both of us."

Note: During a recent Washington visit, Edwin Pauley, millionaire California oil man and onetime Democratic treasurer, said privately that he and his friends have stopped contributing to the National Committee "as long as that crowd stays there."

GOP Politics—President Eisenhower is going to Palm Springs, Cal., for an April vacation—according to Governor Goodwin Knight. He is telling friends that's the reason for the present visit there of George Allen, close friend and Gettysburg, Pa. neighbor of the President. Allen is supposed to be making preparations for the President's spring jaunt to Palm Springs. Knight is also saying he will confer with the President on plans to head an Eisenhower-Nixon delegation of the 1956 convention. Knight declares he is certain that will again be the Republican ticket.

Thomas Stephens, White House assistant, is shifting to a new job. The New Yorker will concentrate on setting up state organizations to ensure the selection of delegates pledged to the President. Stephens will work closely with Fred Seaton, Neb., who have moved from Assistant Defense Secretary to the White House staff as "political troubleshooter."

Venison Supper—The Men's Fellowship Group of E. S. Meth Church held a venison supper at the church dining room on nearly 100 men present. Dr. C. B. Rosenkrans was the speaker, presented by Game Warden Frantz. Capt. Charles Michels, E. S. home on furlough, also spoke. The venison was served by a committee of the Group, but was prepared by Mrs. Margaret Loney, Captain of the waiters. Prof. Secor, Newton Taylor had charge of the coffee, and Chauncey Bendley directed things in the kitchen.

Automobile Industry Optimistic

—by H. G. Heller

THE AUTOMOBILE industry, one of the nation's largest employers and largest users of raw materials, is confident.

When you go to the East Stroudsburg Armory tomorrow night or Saturday afternoon and night to see the brilliant offers of the industry—presented by Monroe County Automobile Dealers Assn.—keep in mind some of these facts:

With assurance born of a two-month surge in production and factory sales, the automotive industry is looking forward to a very successful year.

The year which just ended was the third best on record for passenger car factory sales, and the fourth best overall. Optimistic industry spokesmen agree that conditions are right for an even better automotive year in 1955. Predictions on the extent of the market increase have ranged from two to ten per cent, with most of the guesses in the middle and upper ranges.

To a considerable extent, such forecasts reflect confidence in the national economy as a whole. They are also founded, however, on a strong industry belief that the most sweeping model changes in many years and the return in 1954 of a sound competitive market are bound to contribute to rising sales figures.

Recent government estimates that Americans will be using more than 80 million vehicles by 1965, coupled with the enthusiastic reception of new models introduced to date, have done nothing to dampen industry confidence.

Preliminary estimates peg 1954 factory sales of new passenger cars at 5,529,000, a total exceeded only in the record year of 1950 and, by a lesser margin, in 1953. In both those years the industry was busy catching up with war-induced shortages.

Broken down, here's what the industry expects this year:

1. It expects, and is fully ready to satisfy, a steadily increasing demand for new cars and trucks.
2. Vehicle use, already at record levels, will continue to increase.
3. The nation's car and truck owners, through special taxes on their vehicles, will continue to pay enough to take care of all normal highway needs—with some left over.

Picture Story Of Explosion-Fire At Fred Fetherman Home

Sheldon Newell home, also half-wrecked from concussion and fire and water damage. Newell is standing on porch talking with neighbor. Hunks of wreckage were flung into trees for a block around. Roof of Fetherman home rose into air in explosion, then crashed down. Entire house collapsed and smoke billowed outward. Flames followed. Invisible behind smoke are two large garages ruptured by explosion.

WRECKED KITCHEN in home of Mrs. Nettie Kitchen shows force of blast which ripped door (extreme foreground) off hinges, slammed it down on Mrs. Kitchen. She was also treated for cuts caused by flying glass. Entire home was damaged.

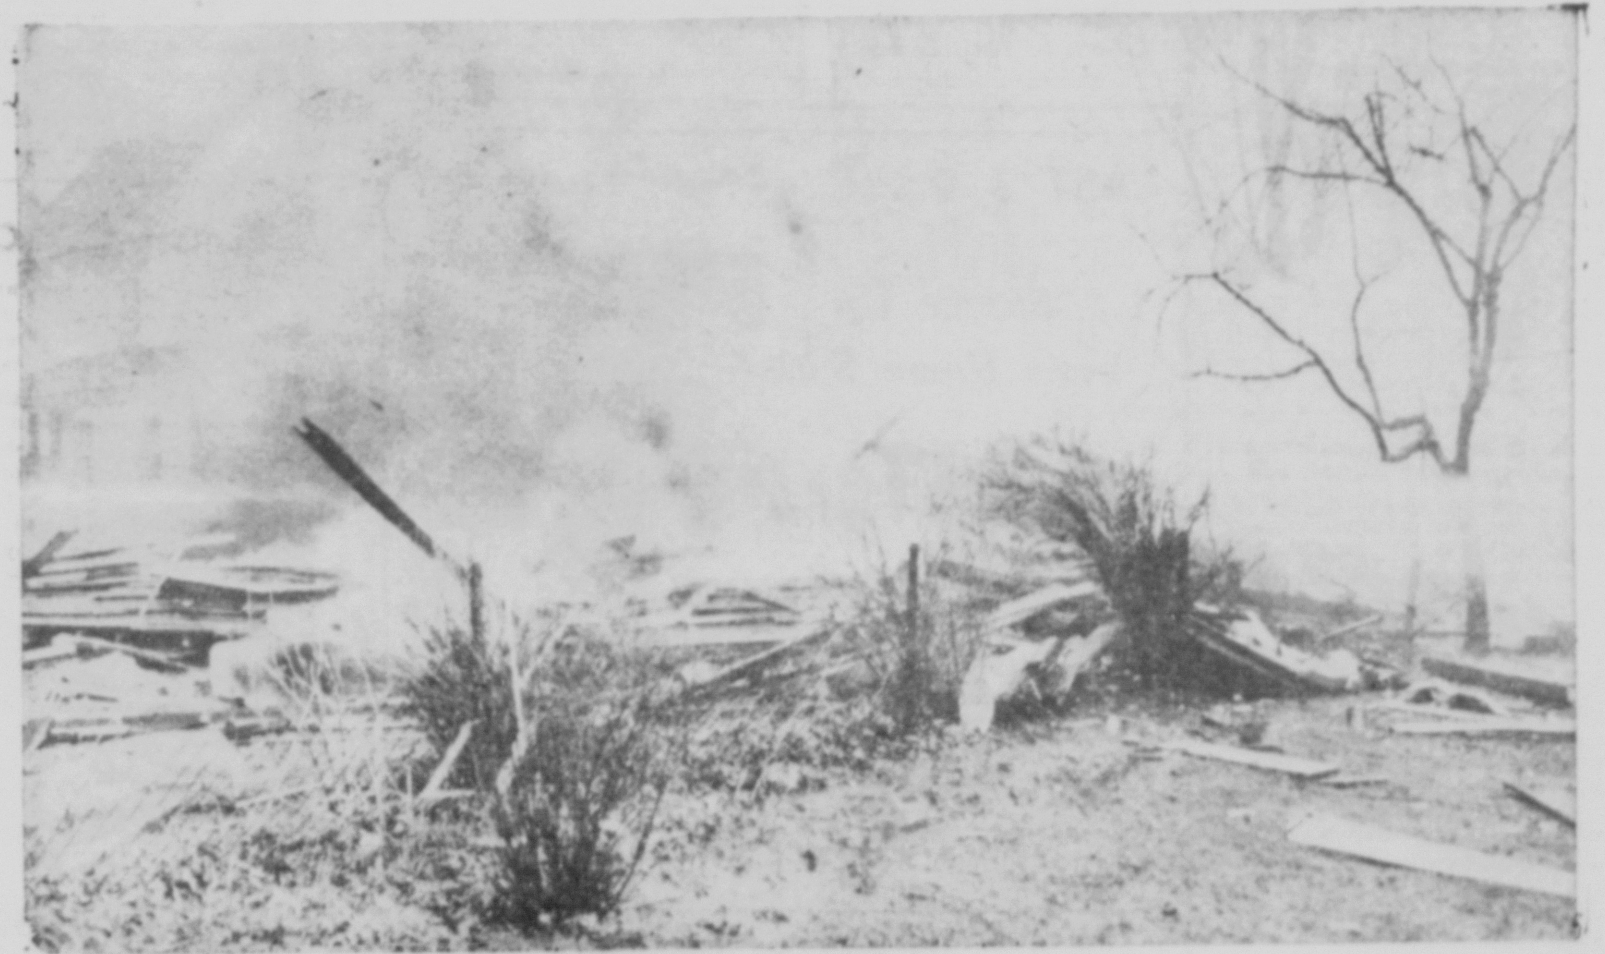

HAVOC IN SHELDON NEWELL HOME is revealed in shattered kitchen which faces west toward Fetherman ruins. Entire west portion of Newell home was warped by force of concussion. Mrs.

Newell was in basement just beneath at time. Outdoors firemen are visible as they pour water on flaming wreckage.

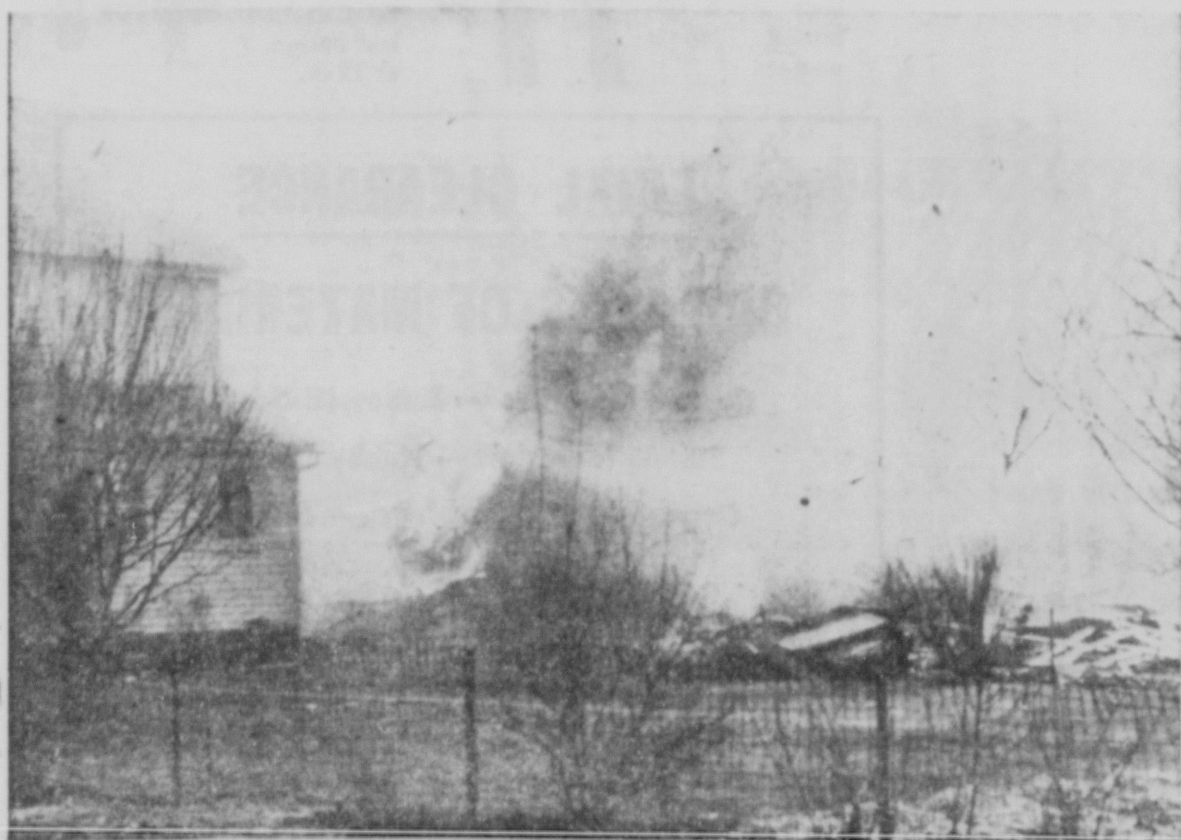

ABOUT 10 MINUTES AFTER EXPLOSION spectators crowd against home of Mrs. Edith Bailey, directly across street from Fethermans'. Window panes were blown inward, porch nearly knocked loose by debris. In apartment at right Mrs. Frantz had broken glass hurled into lap but was uninjured.

FROM FOUR DIRECTIONS firemen pour water onto the flaming wreckage of the Fetherman house. Photo was made from Kitchen back yard, looking across Fetherman property toward rear of Newell residence. Personal effects, valuables, cash, family heirlooms, were buried in charred debris.

BULLETS WERE FLYING when Photographer Les Carlton made this shot minutes after blast. Heat exploded Fetherman's store of shotgun shells and ball ammunition, but no one was nicked. At left is edge of Newell home.

CALM, COOL, COLLECTED, was Mrs. Sheldon Newell, shown two hours after blast salvaging a few unbroken cups from the wreckage of her kitchen.

DENSE CLOUDS BILLOW SKYWARD as flames lick up remains of Fetherman home. Police later mounted patrol to protect area against looters, scavengers. In foreground, center, is smashed washing machine from house. All was lost.

RESEARCH AND EDUCATION. Those two fields are the important areas in which the Heart Association works, Heart Fund workers were told yesterday by Brian O'Connell, field representative for the PHA. ## Heart Attacks Needn't Be Fatal, Workers Reminded ALTHOUGH "HEART ATTACKS" may often be serious they need not necessarily be fatal or keep the victim from working, a Pennsylvania Heart Association representative told Heart Fund workers yesterday.

The speaker, Brian O'Connell, said that, in the Pittsburgh area alone, "85 per cent of the cardinals (heart patients) had, or regained, the capacity to work."

Many times, O'Connell warned, the patient will be better off if he finds a kind of work he can do easily without undue strain than to spend his time worrying.

"Worrying," he said, "is just as bad or worse than working."

To help heart patients adjust to their new status in life, he went on, the heart association has set up "work evaluation" programs all over the State and in the nation.

Consultants in this program include not only a cardiologist but also a social worker, a psychiatrist and a vocational adviser.

America is today on the brink of a great discovery in the area of cause and possible cure of heart disease, O'Connell continued. To reach that goal research programs must be kept going through voluntary contributions—large and small—from each community, he said.

He reminded the workers that 52 per cent of all diseases in the U. S. last year were due to diseases of the heart or the circulatory system. The figure was higher for Monroe County (57 per cent), he added.

O'Connell was the chief speaker at the Heart Fund conference in Stroud Community House at 2 p. m. yesterday.

He commended the local Heart Fund workers for their interest in the cause of research and public education where heart disease is concerned.

Second speaker was Dr. Charles Rushmore, representing the Monroe County Heart Committee, an organization devoted to educating the public to the causes of heart disease and treatment of the diseases.

Dr. Rushmore expressed appreciation for a film on "Arteriosclerosis" (hardening of the arteries) which had been shown during the first part of the meeting.

The film dealt with atherosclerosis, a specific form of hardening of the arteries which, the film said, is believed to be associated with the ingestion of food fats into the body.

New drugs, the film pointed out, have made fighting atherosclerosis possible.

"These substances, known as 'anti-coagulants,' are potent and often dangerous to use, however, Dr. Rushmore commented. Because of their potency they are 'very rarely used over a period of years or months,' he said 'but only until the physician feels the condition caused by blood clotting has been corrected.'"

Research is a poorly paid profession, Dr. Rushmore continued, but it is still very expensive. The reason for the great expense necessary, he said, is that "for every positive answer you get you must run down hundreds of negative answers."

Today, he told the workers, there are "between 2,500 and 3,000 patients with heart conditions in Monroe County." Because of this staggering number, it is obviously impossible for the local heart fund to offer to pay expenses for patients.

Instead, he said, the local heart fund—and the heart committee—must channel their energies toward passing information on heart disease along to the public.

"We want to show those persons who have heart conditions . . . how they can live longer and better lives . . . show them how to help their children, who are suffering from heart ailments . . . and convince them that regular, periodic

Claude Metzgar Replaces Dinstel As Road Superintendent

Milman, Price Appointed As His Assistants

FIRST MAJOR "break" in jobs for the Democratic party in Monroe County came yesterday with formal notification of appointments of maintenance superintendent of highways and two assistant superintendents.

Sheriff Jacob F. Altemose, Democratic county chairman, said Secretary of Highways Joseph Lawler advised the appointees they will take over their duties officially Feb. 14. They are:

Claude Metzgar, Ananokim, former prothonotary and clerk of the courts and a former assistant superintendent of highways, is to be the new maintenance superintendent from Monroe County.

He succeeds Arthur Dinstel, Effort, who has been a veteran employee of the State Highway Department in Monroe County both as an assistant superintendent and for many years as maintenance superintendent.

Joseph Milman, Brodheadsville, and David Price, Barrett Township, have been named assistant superintendents.

They succeed two other veteran employees under Republican regime. They are Morgan Butz, Reeders, and R. H. Eilenberger, Stroudsburg.

Metzgar served in the highway department some seven years, mostly as an assistant superintendent around the period of the Earle administration. He served 12 years as prothonotary and clerk of the courts and is a past state president of the P. O. S. of A.

Milman came here in 1925 with the R. L. Bonham Construction Co., Bridgeton, N. J., as a construction supervisor on construction of Route 209 — a concrete highway. He worked with Bonham until 1929, when he joined Continental Construction Co., Baltimore, Md., on similar work. He also worked for Pinebrook Iron & Construction Co., Scranton, bridge builders. After being in business for himself, including a service station operation at Brodheadsville, Milman joined Rake & Litts, served as a foreman on the toll bridge plaza job at Milford and other Rake & Litts highway and construction jobs.

David Price is a veteran Barrett Township road supervisor. He is a native of that community and has been long identified with road work and kindred projects. His service as a supervisor extends over a period of six years.

Mr. Price also served as secretary of the Barrett Township board of supervisors.

Five Join Lions Club In Barrett

CANADENSIS — Barrett Township Lions, meeting last night at the Pine Knob Inn added five new members to the rolls. S. Moffett, R. Dann, C. Vogt, William Carney and S. Marvick.

The ceremony of obligation was conducted by Former President James Gavin of the Stroudsburgs, who illustrated the value of a Lion membership by apt illustrations, had the several "sponsors" place membership pins in the lapels of the new Lions and welcomed them to membership.

Speakers included former Presidents William P. Deering and Emerson Rahn, who spoke briefly. The visiting Lions were warmly welcomed by the home club.

Lion McCambridge reported on the progress of a movement now being advocated in Barrett to have one general welfare campaign for Barrett Township each year, all service clubs to unite in the promotion.

Chairman McCambridge reported on the work done to date but no definite action was taken at this meeting.

Car Strikes Church At Tannersville

TANNERSVILLE — A Scranton man went to church the hard way here yesterday — without getting out of his automobile. Damages totaled $900.

Frank Ciliberti, 57, told Stroudsburg police later he was driving south on Route 611 behind another car, about 1:55 p. m.

He rolled down the window to toss out his cigar. At that moment the car ahead slowed suddenly. Ciliberti swerved to the left to avoid a collision. The car plunged up and onto the lawn of the Catholic Church, smashed into the church sign and then collided with the concrete front steps.

Ciliberti was hurled out of the car at this point, to land unhurt on the lawn. The car traveled another 75 feet across the lawn before coming to a stop.

Damage was set at $600 to the car and $300 to the church property.

Army To Retire Pic. Geronimo; He's Too Fat

MANHEIM, Germany, Feb. 9 (AP) — Pic. Allan T. Geronimo, a career soldier who doesn't do much of anything but eat, is about to make corporal and be retired from the U. S. Army.

"He's getting too big and fat," said his top sergeant. "He's gaining 40 pounds a month and now weighs 450 to 500 pounds."

Geronimo (Serial No. 1234567, USA) is the eighth-month-old buffalo who was flown over here from the United States last summer while still a baby. He comes from Allentown, Pa.

"He is due for a promotion in March," said Sgt. Roy Innes, 33, Washington, D. C. "We plan to send him to the Frankfurt Zoo in May."

Geronimo is attached, more or less, to the 510th Heavy Tank Battalion, the "Fighting Buffaloes." He was sworn in as a private on his arrival last Aug. 29 at an honor guard welcome ceremony.

He was 11 weeks old at the time. Geronimo was promoted to private first class a month after he got here. He went on maneuvers with the tank battalion in September, was kidnapped by a rival tank outfit but was recovered a day or two later.

Section Of Fetherman Home Struck House Across Street

THOUSANDS OF RESIDENTS of the Stroudsburgs and Monroe County viewed the ruins of the former home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fetherman on Dreher Ave. yesterday afternoon and last night. All gazed in amazement as Stroudsburg firemen worked until early last night to extinguish the flames of the demolished house.

It was hard to believe no one was killed or even seriously hurt in the tremendous blast which was heard throughout the region. Firemen never had a chance to save the house as it collapsed immediately after the explosion.

One entire section of the Fetherman home struck a house owned by Mrs. Edith Bailey directly across the street. A slab of wood bearing the Fetherman home address 1104 was found on the porch of the Bailey home. Windows were smashed throughout the building and two bathrooms were damaged heavily as were porches on both sides.

Mrs. Bailey told how the explosion occurred just after she and a sister-in-law, Mrs. Corinne Bossard, had moved from the living room to the kitchen. "It blew glass all the way through to the kitchen and tore the curtains off the windows," she said. "We could see the flames from the kitchen. I thought sure the fire would come over and burn our house too."

I was almost hysterical. This is really something. It's a good thing no children were coming from school at the time," Mrs. Bailey added.

John Albert, who arrived at the Bailey home right after the blast, commented: "It just blew the whole front over here." Mrs. Horace Frantz and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Raymond Frantz, live in the other part of the Bailey home.

"I was sitting in the living room and my daughter-in-law was trying to call the gas company to tell them my oven had gone out twice when the house across the street blew up. We looked out and the Fetherman house was all tumbling to the ground. You can see the damage it did here," Mrs. Frantz stated.

The earliest arrival at the scene was Assistant Fire Chief Webb Heller. He saw the house fall to the ground as he arrived and rushed into the neighboring houses to turn off the meters. "The heat was so terrific I thought our first fire truck would be burned also. The impact of the blast almost knocked myself and two others down at my station on William St.," stated Heller. The assistant chief said water had to be drawn from Main and Fetherman Streets since the pressure on nearby mains was not strong enough. He added: "Yes I was right in front when it fell in just like a mushroom."

Two other firemen told of the early destruction. Lt. Nelson Lightner said the house had fallen when he arrived and that "we saved the Newell home only by the grace of God as the heat was so intense." The firemen concentrated their hoses on the Newell house immediately to save it from complete

Wilson Sees No Need For Manpower Cut

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (AP) — Secretary of Defense Wilson said today he sees no reason, in light of Russia's power shift, to abandon plans for a military manpower cut, and added:

"That's the President's position, too."

Wilson made the statement to reporters after testifying for hours at closed door meetings of the Senate Armed Services Committee, some members of which questioned the wisdom of a cutback at this time.

Sen. Jackson (D-Wash.) after listening to testimony by Wilson and Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, said that in light of the Formosan situation, and the high command shifts in Russia, "I don't see anything to justify these cuts."

Chairman Russell (D-Ga.) said Wilson testified that the administration did defer plans for manpower cuts last year because of the situation in Korea and Indochina. Russell commented that he believes current developments also "would justify reappraisal."

Wilson said the Army stands to be cut from 1,300,000 at the end of last December to 1,027,000 by June 30, 1956; the Navy from 687,000 to 664,000 and the Marines from 221,000 to 193,000. The Air Force would be increased to 975,000. Wilson gave no figure for the Air Force in December but it was 961,000 in November.

Mrs. Hartman, Stroudsburg, Dies At 40

MRS. LILLIAN L. Hartman, 40, of 863 White St., Stroudsburg, died yesterday morning at her home. She was born in Stroudsburg, the daughter of the late William and Rozella Bruch Frederick, and had lived here all her life.

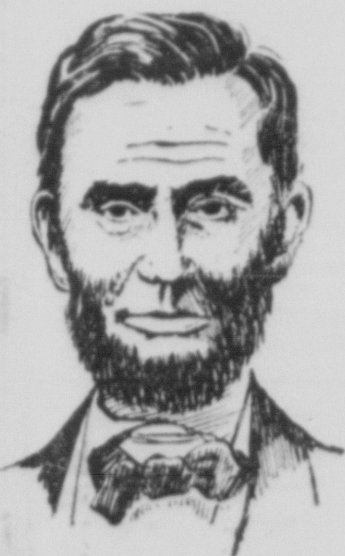

She is survived by her husband, Kenneth E.; two brothers, Denton Frederick, of East Stroudsburg, and Neal Frederick, Stroudsburg; seven sisters, Mrs. Norman Hauser, Apache Junction, Arizona; Mrs. Harry A. ## Science Teacher Searches Out Source Of Explosion

ONCE A SCIENTIST, always a scientist — and Thomas Knepp, biology instructor at Stroudsburg High School did his best to prove it yesterday.

When an explosion demolished the Fred Fetherman home, two blocks away from the school grounds, Knepp's first thought was that a "gas truck" had exploded on the highway.

His second thought was that perhaps some chemical experiment in the school laboratory had backfired. On his way down the hall he ran into fellow science instructor Joseph Kovarik.

"Was that your room?" Knepp asked. Kovarik assured him it was not and that he, too, was trying to find the source of the blast which, in his room, had knocked bottles and test tubes off the shelves.

Knepp said when he arrived at the high school along the front of the high school, a few seconds after the explosion, was heard, "all that was visible was a huge mass of black dust."

Knepp went into the school assembly; told students the explosion had occurred in the residential section to the rear of Main St.

Knepp said it was about five minutes later that fire first became visible from the high school.

We can submit excellent plans for special structures as Mausoleums, grave covers, or any "custom work" you may desire.

R. DeHaven, L. McCarthy Are Wedded

Miss Lillian McCarthy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis McCarthy, of 490 N. Courtland St., East Stroudsburg, became the bride of Robert L. DeHaven, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira DeHaven, of Stroudsburg, Saturday afternoon.

The impressive double ring ceremony was performed in the East Stroudsburg Methodist Church at 1 p. m. by Rev. Harold C. Eaton, pastor, in the presence of the immediate families.

The bride wore a street length dress of powder blue silk organza and white orchid corsage. The maid-of-honor, Miss Rose Marie McCarthy, sister of the bride, was attired in a white and blue print dress with a red and yellow rosebud corsage.

LeRoy LaBar, of East Stroudsburg, was best man.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the uncle of the bride, Carl Strunk, of 23 Fulton St., East Stroudsburg. There were guests in attendance from New York City, Philadelphia, Warren County, N. J., Tobyhanna, Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg.

Mrs. DeHaven was graduated from East Stroudsburg High School in the class of 1953 and is employed as secretary by David Bernbaum, of the Star furniture store, East Stroudsburg.

Mr. DeHaven attended the Stroudsburg schools and served with the U. S. Army in Germany two years. He is employed by the Pocono Products, of Stroudsburg.

After a wedding trip to Washington, D. C., and points in Virginia, the newlyweds will be at home in their newly furnished apartment, 96 Analomink St., East Stroudsburg.

Visitation Is Planned By Church Council

Bartonsville—Members of the council of St. John's Lutheran Church met at the home of Miss Mary Allegier on Wednesday night, Feb. 2. Officers for 1955 were elected as follows: President, Mary Allegier; secretary, Mrs. Joseph Dunbar; treasurer, Samuel Dunbar; all had served in those offices during the past several years.

Action was taken to conduct an "Every Member Visitation" on Sunday afternoon, Feb. 20, when council members and other volunteer workers will visit every member of the congregation. Prior to the visitation, workers will meet at the parish house.

A decision was reached to work on the cemetery fence on Saturday, Feb. 12, weather permitting. Refreshments were served.

Present were Rev. John B. Bergstresser, Samuel Dunbar, Claude Cyphers, Floyd Cyphers, Richard Metzger, Robert Field, Robert Beeher, Mrs. Joseph Dunbar and Miss Allegier.

Griffith Davies Soloist

Portland—At the morning worship service in the Methodist Church on Sunday Griffith Davies was the guest soloist. He sang two selections, Mrs. John Ribble was the accompanist. Rev. John Carter, pastor had as his theme, "Peace, Division, Or Union." Frank Gardner was admitted to membership.

Busy Session Analomink PTA Group

ANALOMINK—The monthly meeting of the Analomink Parent Teacher Assn. was held Tuesday night in the school building. The business session, when numerous matters were discussed, was in charge of the president, Mrs. Vernon Pennell.

The secretary's report was read by Mrs. Melvin Bush and that of the treasurer by Mrs. Clair Metzgar.

Mrs. Pennell reported on the County Council meeting held at the Barrett School when she said many good ideas were suggested, which she said will be put to practical use.

There was discussion of playground equipment which will be taken up at the next meeting of the executive board committee. Harry S. Anton, the principal, emphasized the importance of the executive board working in close cooperation with the PTA.

Announcement was made that a "suggestion box" would be placed by the custodian in the building. Helpful suggestions are requested dropped in the box.

Mrs. Addie Weidman's room won the attendance banner. While the attendance was good, it was suggested efforts be made to interest more people in the organization.

Mr. Anton showed colored slides of Boulder Dam, petrified forests in Arizona and Washington, D. C. The cafeteria has been repainted in white and green colors and attracted much attention.

The next meeting of the executive committee will be held Thursday, Feb. 24, at 7:30 p. m. at the school.

The hostesses, Mrs. Russell Transue, Mrs. John Repsher and Mrs. Garrison Cramer served refreshments of sandwiches, cake, coffee, pickles and mints.

The next meeting of the PTA will be held Tuesday night, March 8.

Those attending were: Mrs. Vernon Pennell, Mrs. Melvin Bush, Mrs. Clair Metzgar, Mrs. Roland Fritz, Mrs. Herman Pennell, Mrs. Ervin Nase, Mrs. Jacob Wolbert, Mrs. John Schimmel, Mrs. Ernest Cramer, Mrs. John Repsher.

Mrs. Addie Weidman, Mrs. Harold Oney, Mrs. Nelson Whitman, Mrs. Russell Transue, Mrs. Garrison Cramer, Mrs. Max Hess, Mrs. Wayne Metzgar, Mrs. Tilden Oney Jr., Harry S. Anton, John Schimmel and Albert Pensyl.

Plans will be made for participation in the World Day of Prayer service on February 25. All members and interested friends are cordially invited to be present tonight.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Sticking pretty close to town these winter days you get the impression that everything is sort of drab and messy and muddled with the remains of cinders on the road and ashes on the sidewalks and the white stain left by the rock salt making everything look sort of untidy.

It's only when you get up in the hills that you realize that even this winter has its beauty. The streams running black between the ice incrustated edges, the snow still lying under the pines all marked with paw prints, and of course the eternal hills themselves in changing sun and shadow.

But of all afternoons to be out of town, yesterday was not the one. Not with the biggest excitement of the year rocking the town as effectively as the explosion on Dreher Ave. had shattered the mid-afternoon quiet.

Everywhere you went everybody was saying—"isn't it terrible?" And everybody was telling where they'd been when they heard it, and what they'd thought.

The kids in chemistry lab at the high school stood frozen as the room shook and the bottles rattled; and Tom Knapp came running to ask "That you, Joe?" of Joe Kovarick.

Everybody had their own bit of information to about what they'd seen or hadn't seen—and the fact that even such major items as refrigerators and stoves had apparently vanished in the explosion was a continuing marvel.

Well, there's one thing about not being an eye or ear witness to an event—You make a very good audience.

Civil Defense, Scholarships AAUW Topic

Preparation for Civil Defense is personal and individual responsibility—that was one of the things brought out at the meeting of the Stroudsburg branch of the American Association of University Women at the meeting on Monday night at the Stroud Community House when Paul Cram, Monroe County assistant director of Civil Defense, was the guest speaker.

The club has been considering its role in civil defense since one of the members reported her experiences in the New England hurricane of several summers ago. Anxious to volunteer and be of help, she found that there is no place in an emergency for untrained people no matter how good their intentions.

In the discussion following Cram's talk on "Civil Defense and You," the question was asked whether or not the club as a project could take up some phase of civil defense training. The answer was "no." There are many phases of civil defense work and not everyone is qualified or interested in any one phase. Individual interest and qualifications should determine which course of training a person should take.

Currently the auxiliary police training for women as well as men is being conducted in the county. Later there will be training offered as canteen workers, caring for children in large groups, and many other phases of emergency needs. The thing for a club to do, it was decided, was to encourage all of its members to register with the Civil Defense so that when the section in which they were interested had a training program, they could participate in it.

Mrs. J. L. Cohen, president, named Mrs. Theodore Moore, chairman of the status of women committee, to secure registration cards as well as information about the various types of training to be offered.

The second phase of the program was devoted to a discussion of Fulbright Scholarships by Dr. Ruth Kistler, a member of the college faculty. Three former students of Dr. Kistler at the college have been Fulbright scholars, and one is still studying in France. The purpose, requirements, qualifications and benefits of these scholarships to foreign countries were outlined by Dr. Kistler. They are open not only to students, she pointed out, but also to teachers and other professional people.

Rep. Women Of County Meeting Given Reports

The Monroe County Council of Republican Women held their regular meeting at the Penn-Stroud Hotel yesterday afternoon at 2:15 with the president, Mrs. Irving B. Kiffin, presiding. There were 68 persons in attendance.

A delegation of members of the Mt. Pocono club was welcomed by the president. Included in the party were Mrs. L. C. Ingersoll, Mrs. Henry Cruse, Mrs. Harry Taylor, Mrs. David Nielson, the president, Mrs. Charles Brock, Mrs. Alvin McWilliams, Mrs. Lloyd Kern and Miss Eileen Learn.

The visitors extended an invitation to the host group and their friends to participate in a dance and smorgasbord at Mt. Airy Lodge Feb. 26 at 8 p. m.

Mrs. Adolph Rake and Mrs. Earl Primrose requested the members to bring their gifts of cookies to the Rake office, Washington St., East Stroudsburg no later than 5 p. m. Friday of this week. The cookies will be distributed to the guests at the County Home as valentines.

Mrs. Russell Scott, program chairman, presented Mrs. John Shotwell who read facts from the February Congressional bulletin. Mrs. Alphonse Meyers read condensed forms of three legislative letters. Mrs. Clifford Heller gave the background of Valentines.

Mrs. Kiffin presented Joe Snyder, head of the English department of the Belvidere High School who reviewed Irving Stone's best seller, "Love Is Eternal."

The speaker stressed the romantic relationship between Mary Todd and Abraham Lincoln, bringing out many interesting incidents. One of these was the influence Mary Todd used to secure the consent of Lincoln to be a candidate for the presidency.

A donation of $10 was made to the March of Dimes on Polio fund.

At the conclusion of the meeting refreshments were served with Mrs. T. E. Terrill, chairman of the hostess committee, assisted by Mrs. Fannie Kintner, Mrs. John A. Wagner, Mrs. Joe Snyder and Mrs. Rob. Haigh. The centerpiece of the tea table consisted of red and white carnations, in the Valentine motif.

Boy Scout Founder Day At Paradise

Swiftwater—Observance of Founder's Day and a program by the local Boy Scout troop will be features of the meeting of the Paradise Parent Teachers Association to be held at the school in Swiftwater on Monday, Feb. 14, at 8 p. m.

Since the beginning of the school year the PTA has purchased a merry-go-round and teeter ball for the playground and a ping-pong table for indoor recreation for the children, with funds raised by various activities which they have sponsored.

The Paradise PTA was represented at the recent County Council meeting by Thornton Counterman, Mr. and Mrs. Jock Manchester, Mrs. Richard Leles and Mrs. David Neilson.

The cancer dressing workshop which the PTA sponsored during the summer and fall, will be resumed next week. Mrs. David Neilson, chairman, said a definite working date for each month will be set.

The third and fourth grade room, of which Miss Andy Hamblin is teacher, has captured the attendance award for parent representation at every meeting so far this year. However, the attendance has been regrettably low, and it is hoped that parents will make a better effort in the future, officers state.

West End Youth Center To Crown King, Queen

The West End Youth Center will sponsor a Valentine dance at the Chestnuthill High School Saturday night, Feb. 12. The proceeds will be donated to the March of Dimes fund. Donations will be received at the door per person, it was stated.

Highlight of the night will be the crowning of the King and Queen of Heart, chosen by popular vote.

There will be round and square dancing with special music provided for the same.

The largest crowd since the formation of the center last March is expected to attend the dance.

Mrs. Hallett Surprised By Pattern Girls

A surprise birthday party was held for Mrs. Laura Hallett Monday night during their supper hour by the pattern girls at the Hughes Printing Co., East Stroudsburg.

Mrs. Hallett, floor lady in the pattern room celebrated her 65th birthday on Tuesday, but the party was staged on Monday, thus making it a real surprise. She was presented with a fine gift.

Refreshments of ice cream, cakes and candy were served. Those in attendance were: Pauline Whitmore, Gloria Willet, Helen Dunn, Helen LaBodie, Flossie Snyder, Anna Long, Ruth Singer, Betty Phillips, Florence Bird, Susie Fisher, Goldie Schoch, Anna Lessig, Margaret Hendrickson, Elaine Price.

Jeanne Poortstra, Jean Edinger, Joan Heller, Hilda Straugh, Jane Prantz, Emma Ranck, Albert Smale, Kitty Staples, Mary Ann Mohorovich, Elizabeth Bond, Hattie Setzer and Yvonne Ave. Unable to attend due to illness were Anna Edinger and June LaBar.

Pohopoco Lodge Valentine Dance

Effort—Pohopoco Lodge, Degree of Rebekah, will sponsor a Valentine party tonight at 8 at the IOOF Hall, this place. Members are requested to bring hankies for exchange instead of valentines. Refreshments will be served. Mrs. Dorothy Burkett, noble grand, urged a large attendance of members.

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

"Come on," called my boss yesterday morning before the store opened, "We're going to have a birthday party."

That meant, of course, that one of our store family was celebrating and had probably already received one of the beautiful handkerchiefs or neckties that are Mr. E. H. Wyckoff's way of making us all proud we were born those numerous years ago.

Being in the midst of a purchase at the cosmetic counter, I never did get to that party. But I heard a faint echo of it through our loud speakers, "Happy birthday, dear Betty," the chorus caroled, "Happy birthday to you."

The birthday gal was my very special friend, Betty Bartholomew of Holt Wyckoff's merchandising office, and we learned belatedly that her pal Dottie Dunn, of the same office, also celebrated last Sunday. Two very lovely members of our store family, and both February valentines!

I mention my boss' "birthday party" because I think that—in the words of the song, "Little things mean a lot." It's the ever-present element of interest in the individual, whether employee or customer, that makes our store the wonderful one it is. There aren't many places like Wyckoff's... either to trade or to work.

Noted Expert On Alcoholism To Speak Here

AN OPEN meeting of Alcoholics Anonymous will be held next Tuesday at 8 p. m. in Stroudsburg Methodist Church.

All persons in Monroe County are invited to attend.

One of the two main speakers will be Dr. George A. Clark, Dr. Clark is a resident of Scranton and one of the leading authorities on alcoholism in Pennsylvania.

He is now serving as chairman of the Committee on Alcoholism of the Lackawanna County Medical Society. During 1954 he read a widely praised paper on alcoholism and its physiological aspects before the Medical Society in Philadelphia.

He is also a member of the Advisory Council on Alcoholism of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Dr. Clark's discussion of alcoholism will be centered on the physical effects of alcohol and body conditions which may encourage its repeated and excessive use.

The second speaker will be an Alcoholics Anonymous member from New Jersey. He is a well-known lawyer and a member of the New Jersey State Bar Association.

He will touch on the "12 Steps of Alcoholics Anonymous" in his discussion. He has given the talk before audiences in his home State, in New York and throughout Pennsylvania and is in great demand as a public speaker.

A spokesman for the local Alcoholics Anonymous group emphasized last night that the discussion next Tuesday night will be of great interest to any and all persons in the community.

Because of Dr. Clark's recognized position at the forefront in research on alcoholism, the meeting will be of special interest to members of the medical profession in Monroe County, the spokesman said.

Dr. Koehler To Tell About Sullivan Trail

DR. ROY KOEHLER of the Department of Social Science at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College will speak on the faculty radio series over WVPO at 1:15 p. m. Sunday.

Dr. Koehler proposes to tell about the Sullivan Trail, pointing out some historical markers in this area and clarifying some common misconceptions that prevail.

Dr. Koehler recently returned from a sabbatical leave spent visiting national parks and national monuments, exploring at first hand points of interest to the historian. Dr. Koehler reports that he traveled 18,000 miles, mostly west of the Mississippi.

Another Coffee Price Reduction

NEW YORK, Feb. 9 (AP)—Two independent roasters of coffee today followed leading chain stores in cutting the price of coffee.

Standard Brands Inc. announced it has reduced the wholesale price of Chase & Sanborn coffee by 10 cents a pound. Albert Ehlers Inc., marketing in the northeast, announced a cut of eight cents a pound in the wholesale price of Ehlers grade A vacuum-packed coffee.

Rev. Harold Eaton To Spend Two Months In Japan Taking Part In Evangelism Program

REV. HAROLD C. EATON, pastor of East Stroudsburg Methodist Church, will spend two months in Japan this summer.

Rev. Eaton is one of 25 American clergymen selected this year to take part in a large-scale movement of Christian evangelism in that country.

The East Stroudsburg minister was informed of his selection last month. He conferred with the board of trustees of his church, told them that he had not reached a decision.

After talking with his immediate superiors in the Methodist Church in this district, he made

Ithaca Inflicts Initial Wrestling Setback On ESSTC, 17-15

Warriors Fall In Last Two Matches

ITHACA COLLEGE administered the first wrestling defeat of the current campaign on East Stroudsburg State Teachers College yesterday by a thrilling 17-15 count on the Normal Hill mats. One of the largest crowds of the season watched the two evenly matched foes in battle.

ESSTC rallied from a 10-0 deficit after the first two matches to poke its nose in front by a 13-12 counter after the 167-pound bout. But Ithaca wasn't to be denied and the visiting club won the 177 battle and struggled to a draw in the heavyweight encounter.

The Warriors had won four straight matches before suffering yesterday's loss, while the win was the third in five outings for the visiting Ithaca crew.

Ithaca jumped off to a commanding lead when Dominic VisTocco pinned ESSTC's "Spike" Petrino in the 123-pound opener and Don Hughes pinned Roy Everts, home town grappler, in the 130-pound bout. The visiting grapplers were in front at this time by a 10-0 count.

VisTocco scored his fall at three minutes and 50 seconds and Hughes did the job in eight minutes and 22 seconds.

ESSTC came to life in the 137-pound event when Jerry Rushin pinned Tony Barello in five minutes and five seconds. The Warriors now trailed 10-5.

Charley Dentith, ESSTC, and Don Bills, Ithaca, struggled to a 7-7 draw in the 147-pounder, while Bruce Haynes, carrying the home team's black and red colors, earned a 3-0 decision over John Wiclock in the 157-pound match. Ithaca's lead at this point had been cut to two points, 12-10.

Reliable Charley Shaw sent the Warriors into the lead for the first time in the match when he scored a commanding 13-4 decision over Ithaca's Don Colloco in the 167-pounder. ESSTC led at this point, 13-12.

But John DeKay, Ithaca, decided Ken Cox in the 177-pound event, 1-0, and Ed Stihor used his 30-pound advantage to earn a 1-1 draw with Howard Payne, making his first varsity appearance, in the heavyweight bout and the Bombers had earned a 17-15 victory.

John Gales, wrestling coach at Washington, N. J. High School, was the referee.

The Warriors are scheduled to rest from now until Saturday, February 19, when a powerful Lock Haven machine moves into the Normal Hill gymnasium.

New Date Set For Tilt

BANGOR — Bangor and Pen Abey High Schools will clash in a girls' basketball game today on the Bangor High School court at 3:45 p. m.

The East Penn Girls' Basketball League struggle was originally listed for tomorrow but was advanced to today through an agreement by both schools.

Bangor won the first meeting of the two schools on the Bangor court.

A girls' game between Bangor and Bethlehem, originally listed for next Friday, will be played on the Bangor court on Thursday instead, it was also announced yesterday.

New Job For Irish Coach

Exiled Kentucky Basketball Star Reveals Lack Of Harmony

OWENSBORO, Ky., Feb. 9 (AP)—A self-exiled University of Kentucky basketball player told The Associated Press today that shortly after the second loss by Kentucky to Georgia Tech "most of the team" quit.

Linville Puckett, former Wildcat guard, and now a member of the Kentucky Wesleyan squad, said the walkout occurred after a meeting with Coach Adolph Rupp and his assistant, Harry Lancaster.

LOSS—Ken Cox, with back to camera, is shown in a good position here. But the ESSTC 177-pounder dropped a 1-0 decision to Ithaca's John DeKay in the next to last match on yesterday's program. Ithaca went on to inflict the season's first loss on the Warriors, 17-15. (Staff Photo by Riley)

Company 'G' Cagers Gain Favorable Nod

COMPANY "G" scored a 48-43 basketball victory over Company "H" in a Second Battalion, 19th Inf. Regt. League game played at the Armory on Tuesday night.

The Monroe County contingent used a second half advantage to swing the balance in its favor.

Company "G" trailed at the end of the first period, 11-10, and was on the short end of a 32-31 score at halftime. Both teams came up with 21 points in the second half.

Although the scoring tempo fell off sharply in the second half, the home town quintet went on to win by dominating the third quarter, 10-7, and the final stanza by a 7-4 count.

Jim Frailey led the winning attack with 31 points, while Wade Keen topped the losing offense with 25 markers.

Exiled Kentucky Basketball Star Reveals Lack Of Harmony

The 21-year-old former Clark County High all-state guard said the big factor in his leaving the team was over a disagreement with Captain Billy Evans.

Puckett said Evans called the squad together several days before "I quit and put the blame on me for the slump the team was in."

"Evans cited some of the training rules I had broken" and said that "other members of the team

Catholics, Methodists Win Battles

METHODISTS #1 won two basketball games and the Catholic quintet picked up a single victory in the latest East Stroudsburg Church League showing on the East Stroudsburg High School court.

The Catholics, paced by Nick Patella and Bob McGarry, rolled to an impressive 41-23 victory over the Presbyterians. The Catholics outscored the opposition in every period.

Methodists #1 sped to a 72-38 verdict over Methodists #2, as Bill Cooke led the scoring parade with 34 points. Methodists #1 were in command of the game from start to finish.

The same Methodist #1, club came back to squeeze out a 59-56 verdict over the Lutherans. Cooke and Weiss combined to score 40 points and Felker added 17 in a winning cause.

Baker Stops James In Two

BALTIMORE, Feb. 9 (AP)—Bob Baker, burly Pittsburgh Negro, kayowed Willie James in two minutes and 50 seconds of the second round tonight in a nationally televised scheduled 10-rounder.

Baker, who weighed in at 219½ pounds, didn't even get warmed up in the first round. James, sharp punching 207-pounder, came out at the opening of the bell to assume command. He jabbed Baker's head back with good straight rights and lefts and in the opinion of most ringside observers took the round.

Baker, stung by the punches of the Roxbury, Mass., heavyweight hopeful, proceeded with a business-like air in the second. He scored with a series of left hooks that bewildered James and finally cornered his foe for the kill just before the round ended.

Baker's winning punches were a series of clean, hard rights to the chin. James was still on his knees when Referee Benny Goldstein counted 10.

Baker, fourth ranked heavyweight, said after the fight he got "shook up" from one of James' left hooks in the first round. But he insisted he "wants the money" and pointed to heavyweight champion "Rocky" Marciano as the guy who holds the purse strings.

If he can't get Marciano, Baker said he wanted Nino Valdes. Baker has defeated Valdes before. The Pittsburgh giant suggested March 11 or 18 as a date with Valdes, the winner to get a shot at Marciano.

James said he got nailed with a left, pulled back from that punch and scarcely knew what hit him. He said he wanted to fight Baker again.

This was James' first television appearance and he was obviously nervous.

Stroudsburg FFA Quintet Tops Bangor

STROUDSBURG Future Farmers of America scored a 75-46 basketball victory over the Bangor FFA on the Stroudsburg High School court last night.

The host club had to fight from behind with a strong second half to take the measure of the stubborn Bangor crew.

Stroudsburg led 16-13 at the end of the first period, but slipped behind at halftime, 33-28, after Bangor had constructed a 20-12 advantage in the second round.

The home team demonstrated its true power in the second half by dominating the third quarter, 24-11, and rolling to a onesided 23-2 tabulation during the last quarter.

Stroudsburg held a wide 35-20 edge in field goals and found the range on nine of 12 shots from the foul line. Bangor converted 13 of 13 tries from the free throw mark. Charley Gussett and Carl Bailey led the Stroudsburg attack with 24 and 26 points respectively. Butz, with 34 counters, led the Bangor offense.

Marciano To Test Nose

NEW YORK, Feb. 9 (AP)—Rocky Marciano's $1,000,000 nose is scheduled to be tested in full view of the press next Tuesday but Manager Al Weill, having set the date himself, isn't going to wait that long.

"I'm going up to Grossinger's, where Rocky's training, on Friday and I think I will take a look for myself before the weekend's over," said Weill in an interview today. "The quicker I find out the better."

Pocono Mountains Basketball League Makes Plans For Possible Championship Playoff

TANNERSVILLE—Plans were completed for the possibility of a first half playoff in the Pocono Mountains Basketball League last night during a regularly scheduled meeting of the circuit here at Trach's Hotel.

If the Stroudsburg Poconos should defeat Johnson's Diner in the first half of a doubleheader here tonight, they will tie Lake Harmony for first place with nine wins and two defeats.

The Poconos were awarded a forfeit decision over Barrett last night, when the latter was unable to procure the Barrett High court because of illness in the school.

If Stroudsburg does deadlock Lake Harmony for first place the championship game will be played in the Tobyhanna Township High School gymnasium, in Pocono Pines. Starting time is listed as 8:30 p. m.

A preliminary encounter between Williams' Pharmacy and Barrett will begin at 7:15 p. m.

There will be no playoff if Johnson's Diner should upset the Poconos today. This game is scheduled for 7:15 p. m., while Barrett and Gray's Chevrolet tangle on the same card at 8:30 p. m.

It was revealed during the course of the meeting that the West End quintet will hold a dance to raise funds and feels certain that it can finish out the present campaign.

All team rosters must be presented to Ray Davies, circuit president, prior to Monday's second round openers. Any teams failing to forward their rosters may have to forfeit the opening contests.

Each of the seven teams in the circuit were represented at last night's gathering.

Wings Bench Star Goalie

DETROIT, Feb. 9 (AP)—Goalie Terry Sawchuk of the Detroit Red Wings was benched today for the first time in his brilliant five-year career in the National Hockey League.

General Manager Jack Adams of the Red Wings said Sawchuk, ridden for 16 goals in the last two games, will be given a three-game "rest."

RILEY

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

SLATINGTON beat Stroudsburg in basketball on Tuesday night just as soundly as the Democrats throttled the Republicans in the last election. The Slatington crew had the polish of a politician and the drive of a starved stevedore on the way to a diner. The Slaters definitely stamped themselves as a championship contender in the second half of the current Lehigh Valley League race, as they all but stole the backboards from the Stroudsburg gymnasium.

Tuesday's victor will get a chance tomorrow to either show that the win was only a dress rehearsal for Palmerston, or whether it was just one of those nights that every quintet comes up with now and then. Slatington and Palmerston clash on the former's Smith Hall court tomorrow, with the second half title almost certain to be on the line. Palmerston will also be riding the crest of a 29-game winning streak when the Bombers knock on Slatington's door.

But on Tuesday night there wasn't another basketball team in this world. Whether it was the season's biggest crowd at the W. Main St. court, or the memory of last season's narrow squeak on the same boards doesn't matter, but the fact remains that Slatington dealt the Mountaineers one of their worst defeats ever in the home gymnasium. Coach Lloyd Williams' crew went off in front like a guided missile and kept trained to the target all night.

Merrill Eckhart and his high scoring teammates were good, but take away Maurice Schleicher and the Slatington team would have been just a pile of black and white uniforms—which are supposed to be blue and white. Schleicher actually did everything but sweep out the gymnasium after the game, and even watched the various Stroudsburg students do this chore. His rebound work was second to none ever witnessed by this scribe on an area basketball court.

Schleicher, especially during the first half, was Mr. Brilliance himself. The big six-foot, four-inch center, who also dabs in football and baseball, swung those huge hands into the air to grab rebounds like a mad first baseman dragging in wild throws with landing nets. Stroudsburg captured only 16 rebounds as a team and I estimate very conservatively that Schleicher, as an individual, drew down or tapped in between 25 and 30 balls bounding off the squared woods at each end of the court.

Don't get me wrong—Schleicher wasn't the entire show. But he was at least a lengthy main feature. The remainder of the Slatington club wheeled the ball around the court like a construction crew handling a red hot rivet. Slatington may be knocked right out of the title picture by Palmerston tomorrow, but if the Slaters perform at anything like the pace they did against Stroudsburg the proud Bombers are in for a very tough night. The size of Smith Hall will definitely favor the home team.

Regardless of what happens Friday, this Slatington team is good. But it doesn't have the class of the team which represented the same school and won the District 11 championship last season. The conduct of the reserves during the first half was nothing to brag about and the first five don't carry themselves with the same business-like air that the 1953-1954 crew made famous. I believe that Williams has had to work too hard to get his club rolling this season to attend to the little things that have marked his squads in the past.

Slatington appears to be rolling now and it certainly isn't anything new to see Williams come up with a strong second half. I believe the fact that Schleicher was still interested in football in the first half, dashing here and there to visit colleges, helped to slow the club to a walk. But now the big boy is concentrating on the cage sport and the Slaters appear to be clicking. Although Slatington defeated Stroudsburg by 35 points, Williams conferred with our Ray Welsh about new material for his attack following the contest. Actions of this type have endeared Williams to court fans throughout the area.

Doug Shook came into his own on Tuesday. Although the Mountaineers were actually clubbed, the big sophomore forward was playing as hard in the final minute as he was in the first and the same can't be said for some of his teammates. Stars are often made in defeat and they usually glitter longest. Shook won himself an army of admirers, even though Stroudsburg suffered an awful drubbing.

Former Stroudsburg Star To Fight For Left Field Position With Tigers In Training Camp

By JOE FALLS

DETROIT, Feb. 9 (AP)—Watch for the "left field sweepstakes" at the Detroit Tigers' training camp this spring. It should make quite a race.

With fleetsters Al Kaline and Bill Tuttle holding down two-thirds of the outfield positions, the left field post is wide open.

Manager Bucky Harris, fortunate man, will have four players to choose from—veteran Jim Delsing and rookies John Phillips, J. W. Porter and "Chick" King. For old times sake, you can toss in the Tigers' veteran of veterans, 35-year-old Steve Souchock.

Phillips received his start in professional baseball with the Stroudsburg Poconos, charter member of the now defunct class "D" Nor Atlantic League.

Harris' problem is pleasantly perplexing. Insiders say Phillips and Porter, both Army returnees, are sure bets to win outfield berths somewhere. But then what happens to Kaline or Tuttle, who sparkled so brilliantly in their rookie seasons last year?

A consistent 300 hitter in the minors, Phillips was the stand-out player in the All-Army baseball tournament last season. He hit the game-winning home run which gave Fort Jackson the championship. It came, oddly enough, off "Bud" Black, who will be one of his teammates on the Tigers.

Porter is the prospect the Chicago White Sox recently tried to get for $100,000. After that offer, General Manager Harold "Muddy" Ruel said: "Hm! Maybe we'd better take a good long look at this lad."

Porter will be discharged from Fort Ord in California on Tuesday. His previous major league experience shows only a mere 104 times at bat for the St. Louis (remember?) Browns.

He originally was property of the Chicago White Sox, who signed him for a $65,000 bonus.

King is the "veteran" of the rookies. He played 11 games for the Tigers late last season. His background includes a fascinating record of 120 stolen bases in four minor league seasons.

Duquesne First To Join Invitational Field

NEW YORK, Feb. 9 (AP)—Duquesne, the nation's fourth-ranked college basketball team, became the first entry today in the National Invitation Tournament March 12-19 at Madison Square Garden.

The Iron Dukes, winners of the Holiday Festival at the Garden the last two years, were beaten in the finals of the NIT event by Holy Cross 71-62.

Holy Cross is another of the top-flight independent teams which the Garden will try to lure from the National Collegiate Athletic Association's annual championship.

Under present rules, a team cannot play in both tournaments, Regional playoffs for the NCAA begin March 7. The finals are set at Kansas City March 19, conflicting with the NIT.

The Duquesne team, coached by Duddy Moore, has a 13-3 record this year, having dropped decisions to George Washington, St. Francis (Pa.) and Dayton.

Duquesne boasts two of the country's leading players in Dick Ricketts, a 6-foot-7 forward from Pottstown, Pa., and Si Green, a 6-foot-3 floor whiz.

The Dukes have beaten such teams as LaSalle, Niagara, College of the Pacific and Villanova (twice).

This will mark their eighth appearance in the NIT since 1940 when they gained the finals against Colorado. They played in the NCAA championships in 1940 and 1952.

NIT officials announced several other teams were under consideration for bids to this year's tournament.

These include Cincinnati, Dayton, Connecticut, Louisville, Marquette, Niagara, Penn State, St. Francis (Pa.), Villanova and Tulsa.

Duquesne University's basketball team exhibited its tightest defense of the season tonight in trouncing Carnegie Tech 62-27. The victory, seventh in a row for the Dukes, gave them a 14-3 record.

The Dukes were never in danger at any point in the game.

Mountaineers Roll Over Pen Argyl

PEN ARGYL — Stroudsburg Junior High School registered its fourth basketball victory of the current campaign yesterday by winning over Pen Argyl High, on the losing team's home court.

Stroudsburg registered its second straight win by completely dominating play in the first three periods and coasting through the final round.

The visiting squad, coached by John Whitehead, led 14-2 at the end of the first period and 23-4 at halftime. The score at the three-quarter mark was 32-6 with the Mountaineers leading.

Ronald "Super" Phillips led the Stroudsburg attack, while four Pen Argyl players shared scoring honors.

Lake Ariel Scores Upset Over Hawley

HONESDALE — Hawley, top team in the Northern division of the Wayne County Basketball conference, was surprised by Lake Ariel, 49-48, Tuesday night, and Moscow assumed sole possession of first place in the Southern half by thumping Honesdale, 56-44.

The Lakers, trailing by six points at the end of three quarters, put on a late rally, outscoring their rivals 16-9 in the final eight minutes to get the one-point nod. "Howie" Byrd was the big gun for the winners with 21 points and Jim Gelatt was top man for Hawley with 18.

Moscow was in command all the way against the winless Hornets. Howard Bortree led the scoring with 19 points with Charley Hoffman adding an additional 10 to the Trojan total. Ludwig, with an even dozen markers, was high for the losers.

Tomorrow's schedule: Honesdale at Lake Ariel, Waymart at Greene-Droher-Sterling, Hawley at Pleasant Mount and Damascus at Preston.

House Passes Unemployment Benefit Bill

HARRISBURG, Feb. 9 (P)—The administration's proposals to revise unemployment compensation benefits won House approval 207-3 today but immediately faced an indefinite delay in the Senate.

The bill calls for a $5 weekly increase in maximum jobless benefits and a boost in employer payroll taxes.

The vote came routinely just two days after the measure was introduced.

Sen. Rowland B. Mahany, Republican Senate leader, scheduled a meeting Monday with John R. Torquato, labor and industry secretary, to check on all provisions of the measure.

"Before we take a stand we will have to find out the exact provisions of the bill, how much money will be put into the fund and how much will go out," Mahany said. The Republicans control the Senate and can bottle up any legislation.

The vote on the unemployment compensation measure was the only major action in both houses which held short sessions and adjourned until Monday afternoon.

Attendance in both houses was sparse with only some 30 representatives in their seats. The Senate with only 13 members present, approved a 16 million dollar deficiency appropriation for the Department of Public Assistance. The recorded vote was 48-0, sending the bill to the House.

In another action the House moved into position for final vote Monday on a bill to set back primary elections from May to July in all but presidential election years. There was no debate on the measure which is described by Readfinger as an administration bill designed to reduce the length of campaigning. A similar bill is under consideration by the Senate Elections Committee.

Meanwhile, Mahany told the upper chamber that Senate Republicans feel they cannot act upon the House-approved temporary tax program until the governor presents his budget.

"We feel that the proper position under the Constitution is for the governor to present a budget—then we will be in shape to act on a tax program," he said.

He promised that Senate Republicans would produce no "obstruction" but also declared his party could not act immediately on the House-approved executive reorganization bill. He termed this measure "very definitely unconstitutional" in taking the same stand as House Republicans who opposed the measure.

Mahany said, however, that the temporary gasoline tax bills may be acted upon by the Senate next week. Money produced by these measures goes into the highways rather than the general fund.

Sen. John H. Dent, Democratic Senate leader, promised to try to find out when the administration

Financing Provision Of Dixon-Yates Power Project Approved By SEC; Appeal Indicated

By WHITNEY SHOEMAKER

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (P)—Dixon-Yates contract sponsors today gained approval of the Securities and Exchange Commission for the key financing provision of their controversial power project.

Opponents said that despite the action they were far from through in fighting the plan to let the government buy private power in the Tennessee Valley Authority area.

Four SEC members voted to authorize the issuance of 5½ million dollars of common stock in a new plant at West Memphis, Ark.

Paul R. Rowen, one of two Democrats on the commission, dissented. Mississippi Valley Generating Co. would sell the stock to the two holding companies which set it up—Middle South Utilities and the Southern Co. Among principal officers of the latter are Edgar H. Dixon and Eugene A. Yates, from whom the contract derives its label.

Dixon and Yates have arranged to sell power to the Atomic Energy Commission to make up for current which TVA now furnishes atomic facilities.

The SEC ruling was not unexpected, but Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.) noted it may be appealed to the courts. Gore and others also have talked of attacking the project by strings to AEC appropriations.

Sen. Anderson (D-NM), like Gore a critic of the plan, said he didn't concur with the SEC decision, but added: "They've got their responsibilities and we've got ours."

Anderson is chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, which recently went on record against the contract. The committee decided this afternoon to hear more of a quarrel within AEC over effects of the contract dispute on atomic development. It agreed to allow AEC Chairman Lewis L. Strauss to testify tomorrow in answer to a blast by Commissioner Thomas E. Murray yesterday.

Murray asserted the project has taken too much commission time. He has recommended the contract be abandoned, a step the commission by a presumed 2-1 vote refused to take last Saturday.

Dixon and Yates received the SEC ruling with "gratification." They said the commission was the sixth in the government to review their contract and declared in a joint statement:

"Not a single agency has found anything wrong with the proposed transactions. Nor has a single fact been turned up by the critical minority which in any way reflects on the soundness of the contract."

"We sincerely hope that this decision will tend to discourage continued harassment by the minority of critics who have been putting roadblocks in the path of this MVG contract with the Atomic Energy Commission."

The ruling drew no immediate comment from Joseph Volpe, attorney for TVA area groups who had battled Dixon-Yates financing proposals as part of their general opposition to the plan.

AFL And CIO Reach Accord On Merger

By NORMAN WALKER

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 9 (P)—AFL and CIO leaders today agreed to end the 20-year-old split in organized labor and merge into a single 15-million-member union federation.

George Meany, president of the American Federation of Labor, and Walter Reuther, head of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, predicted that necessary ratifications would be accomplished by the end of the year.

They said the powerful new union organization, not yet given a formal name, would immediately launch an all-out organizing drive to bring millions more workers into union membership.

"We are pooling our resources so we can take on the task of organizing the great mass of unorganized workers in America and build a greater industrial democracy," Reuther said.

The merger agreement was signed by two 10-man committees representing the rival union organizations.

Under the merger arrangement the two top jobs in the new federation will go to the AFL, with Meany and AFL Secretary-Treasurer William Schnitzler due to take over the same jobs in the new setup.

CIO unions are to enter the AFL as a "Council of Industrial Organizations" with the right to name their own leader, who probably will be Reuther although he smilingly said he would not be a candidate.

Reuther also heads the million-member CIO Auto Workers Union. Present CIO unions also will have the right to name and staff the member-organizing activities of the new federation.

The merger agreement will be considered here tomorrow by the AFL Executive Council. Approval was considered virtually a foregone conclusion since many top AFL leaders took part in the successful merger negotiations.

The pact will go before the CIO's Executive Board at a special meeting in Washington on Feb. 22. A formal constitution for the new federation then is to be drawn up along the lines of the detailed agreement worked out today.

The constitution must be ratified at separate AFL and CIO conventions and then by a joint AFL-CIO convention. Although there are many steps to be taken in this ratifying process, leaders on both sides expressed confidence these were only formalities.

Once the AFL-CIO merger becomes ratified, Meany and Reuther plan to invite John L. Lewis, United Mine Workers and other independent unions in the railroad and other industries to come into the new federation.

Howell Becht Dismissed By Commission

HARRISBURG, Feb. 9 (P)—The Republican-controlled State Civil Service Commission today fired its highest paid employee, Howell M. Becht, for "gross insubordination."

Becht, who received $11,500 a year as the commission's executive director for five years, denied the charge. He is a Republican.

The commission said Becht refused to attend meetings of the agency. Becht, it added, failed to issue employment policies interpretations to state agencies as requested by the commission.

In another dismissal, Mrs. Isabella J. Jones, Pittsburgh Republican, lost her $10,980 a year post as deputy welfare secretary. Harry Shapiro, Democratic welfare secretary, gave Mrs. Jones the choice of resigning or be fired. She resigned.

The State Health Department announced appointments which included: George W. Livingstone, Wilkes-Barre, senior sanitarian, $5,058; Walter N. Heine, Milford, sanitary trainee, $3,270.

Only Car at its Price*...
So Smart! So Big! So Powerful!

*You can buy a big, powerful Pontiac for less than many models of the lowest-priced cars!

Whatever you want most in a car—beauty, size or performance—you get it in extra measure in a Pontiac. In fact, when you choose Pontiac the decision comes very easily—because Pontiac alone, at its price, gives you everything!

For example, take Pontiac's distinctive smartness. Certainly there is no question on this point. Pontiac is the one car that stands apart from all the others.

If it's size and big-car sure-footedness you want—Pontiac's your car! Pontiac's long wheelbase—124 inches in the Star

Chief, shown here, and 122 inches in the 860 and 870 series—is the plus wheelbase that provides the roominess, the comfort, the satisfying road-hugging security that only a big car can supply.

As for performance—once you get behind the wheel you have all the proof you need that Pontiac is way ahead in this department, too. Pontiac's spectacular performance starts with the most modern engine of all—the powerful new Strato-Streak V-8—specifically designed for Pontiac's all-new chassis to give you balanced performance. That means smooth, eager getaway in traffic; power to spare on the open road; and even more of Pontiac's traditional economy, dependability and long life.

All this adds up to a wonderful car and—with Pontiac's remarkably low price tag—a very wonderful buy. Come in soon and talk dollars and cents. If you're in the market for any new car, you'll discover you can easily afford all the pride and pleasure of a big, powerful, luxury-loaded Pontiac.

It takes only seconds to happen— Are you prepared for your turn?

The three pictures on this page are actual photographs of automobile accidents in Monroe County. And, all three of them happened on the highways that are familiar to you, as a local driver. Pictures are by Daily Record photographers and appeared in the news columns of the Daily Record. It is so easy to have a serious accident.

So, it pays to be insured. If you are not insured, and you have an accident you will lose your right to drive unless you can prove financial responsibility.

One way to do this is to have your car properly insured

If you have a serious accident without insurance: if some one were killed in the accident, you could lose everything you possess and be paying for the damages the rest of your life.

For the few dollars needed for proper insurance, the motorist today cannot afford to be without it. It could save you thousands of dollars in payable damages in the future.

NEW INSIDE AND OUT is the 1955 Willys Custom four-door sedan. A new grille, fresh rear styling treatment and crisp flowing "speed lines" provide a long, low appearance. Eight inches longer than previous Willys sedans, the Custom also has completely restyled interiors, color-matched with a wide variety of two-tone body finishes. Courtland Motors, 112 North Courtland St., East Stroudsburg, is the local Willys dealer.

"VOGUE" two-toning and new panoramic body styling enhance the long sleek look of the all new 1955 Pontiac Star Chief Custom Catalina. Powered with Pontiac's new 180 h. p. Strato-Streak V-8 overhead valve engine, the very popular Catalina is offered in Star Chief Custom and Chieftain 870 models. 1955 Pontiacs may be seen at the Auto Show at the Armory Friday and Saturday of this week.

Auto Makers In Race For Record Sales

By FRANKLIN JOHNSON
Central Press Correspondent

DETROIT — They are off and running, the six major manufacturers of passenger automobiles in the United States who this month will be competitively showing most of their 244 models in auto shows throughout the country after unprecedented elaboration and early individual introductions during recent weeks.

The months ahead will witness the hottest scramble for shares of the potential 1955 market of more than five million new cars that the turbulent industry has seen in its more than half century existence.

It is being billed as a battle for survival among six industrial giants, with Uncle Sam refereeing to see that no unfair tactics are used. Attorney General Herbert Brownell's warning last spring that any more mergers of big auto makers would be carefully studied in the light of the anti-trust laws still echoes along automobile row here.

Actually, the roster of contenders for the favor of the nation's motorists never looked huskier. They are the surviving champions among the more than 2,000 makers of cars since 1900. Their wares are the sleekest, fastest, most powerful, and most comfortable that the ingenuity of man yet has been able to pack into a combination of self-propelled four wheels.

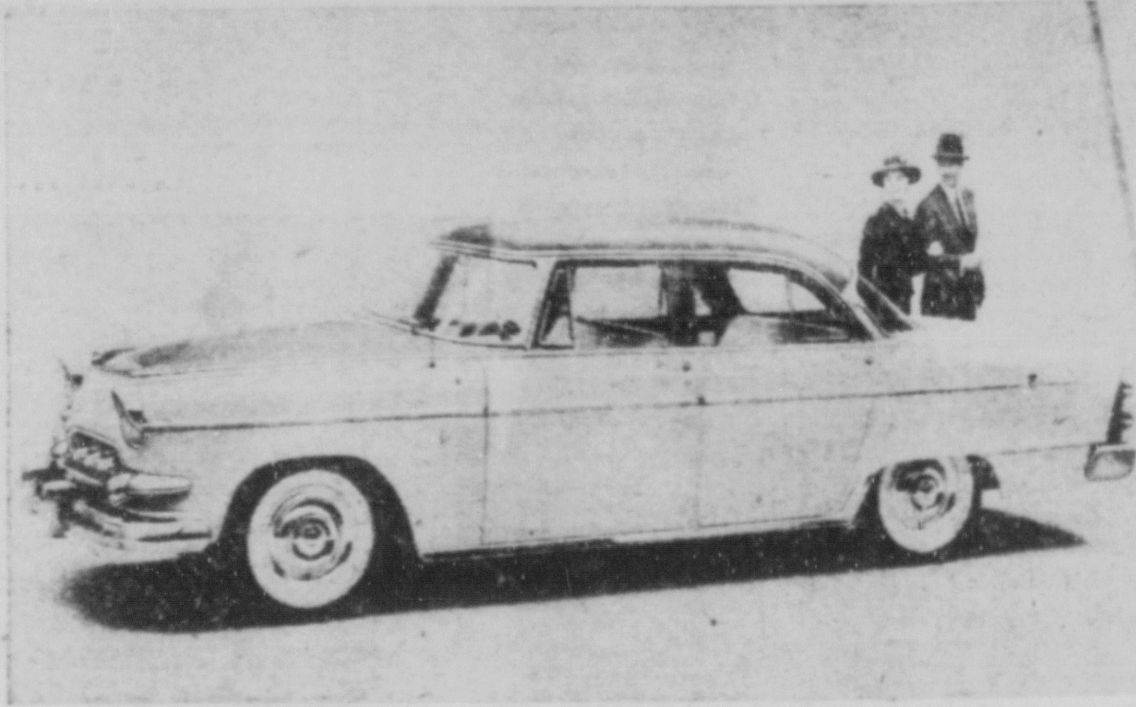

Since energetic James J. Nance of Packard-Studebaker and George Romney of American Motors laid to rest rumors that their two firms might make a super-merger, the roster has seemed complete for 55 at least.

Destined to stay around for a while are the remaining proud names that have become household words as more than 30 million families have come to own one or more cars and the 46 million cars on the road reached a point where the nation's entire population now can ride at one time.

Never did the market look so lush for all the contenders. The soothsayers predict that by 1950, there will be 67 million cars on the road. As Chevrolet and Ford raced to the finish line for top sales in 1954, the GM and Ford behemoths produced a record 1,100,000 cars in just two months. Still the census of new cars in the field and in transit on Nov. 1 was only 165,000 as compared with over 600,000 in 1953, and scrap-page in 1954 had junked a record four million cars requiring replacement.

By careful pruning of existing makes and making strategic alliances, the six major entrants in the race are able to blanket the price classes. Their teams look formidable.

Remember the Oakland, Viking, Marquette, LaSalle, Cartercar, Elmore, Randolph, Welch, Scripps-Booth and Sheridan? Surprisingly

THE FLAIR-STYLED 1955 Dodge features a dashing hood ornament, projected headlight hoods, "New Horizon" swept-around windshield, cut back doors, flared wheel openings and streamlined rear deck. This four-door sedan in the Custom Royal series has a Super Red Ram V-8 engine of 183 horsepower. Two-tone paint treatment accents the lowered roof line, sloping hood, and twin-jet taillight section. 1955 Dodge models may be seen at the Auto Show at the Armory this week-end.

enough, all are former General Motors makes.

These makes have been weeded out since Oct. 16, 1916, when the present GM corporate entity was created and it began sifting out the current combination of Chevrolet, Pontiac, Oldsmobile, Buick and Cadillac, each with its own wide range of models.

Chrysler in its dramatic return to contention and Ford, girding itself for a bone-crushing battle with GM and perhaps all the rest, are returning two fine names to the lists.

Late this year, Ford will reintroduce its Continental, once known as the Lincoln-Continental, which may cost around $10,000. Chrysler has elevated its Imperial to a status all its own.

The Ford "family" emerges with the Ford, including its Fairlane deluxe version; Mercury, Lincoln and Continental. Chrysler offers a full spread, including Plymouth, Dodge, DeSoto, Chrysler and Imperial.

Kaiser-Willys, heir to the proud traditions of the Willys-Knights which explorer Carl Akeley drove through the African bush on his many expeditions, offers two Willys series, the Bermuda and Custom; the Kaiser-Manhattan, and the resilient Jeep of which it expects to sell at least 75,000 copies this year.

Packard-Studebaker is loaded with tradition in new dress. Nance has warned that Packard is out to battle for the big car title with Cadillac, Continental and Imperial, but figures on selling 100,000 Clippers in the medium price field.

Studebaker has set its sights on selling 100,000 Presidents and 200,000 Commander V-8s in 1955.

Although the so-called "independents" have their work cut out for them in bucking the "Big Three," their corporate resources are impressive. The Nash-Hudson team of American Motors is pushing its Rambler series under both name plates, and expects to sell 200,000 of them.

In addition, full Nash and Hudson series will be offered. The big shoes of George W. Mason, the architect of the merger who died last fall, have been remarkably well filled by Romney, whose company has strength in the diversification of its products including refrigerators, which sold 638,000 units last year.

The growth of the auto age in America has separated the men from the boys among the manufacturers to such an extent that the only really small producers left will be in the sports car class, such as Kyrus corporation in Los Angeles which will produce a car with a Cadillac engine.

Five Chosen To Take Part In Chorus

FIVE STROUDSBURG High School students have been selected to take part in the District Chorus Feb. 17, 18 and 19.

The chorus will be held at Hanover Township School in Wilkes-Barre. Those taking part from the local school will be the following:

Kay Shook, second alto; Martha Williams, first alto; Mickey Michel-felder, second tenor; John Will-holte and Bill Norman, second basses.

The students will be accompanied by Ruth Fetherman. The conductor will be Leah Thofje, elementary music department head at Peabody Conservatory, Baltimore.

Sour orange trees were introduced into Florida so early by the Spanish explorers that they were long believed to be native to the state.

One recent study shows that the average American man walks 9 miles a day and the average woman 10.

The latest census shows there are about 43 million people in France.

Hurricanes Hazel and Carol in 1954 killed 168 people.

DISPLAYING A LONG, low silhouette, rugged frontal beauty and extraordinary visibility, the four-door "Two-Ten" is one of 14 models offered by Chevrolet for 1955. In addition to bumper-to-bumper restyling, the company makes available a choice of three engines, including a sensational new V8. Note in the above view the lattice-work grille and the smartly styled hooded headlamps. The sweep-sight windshield gives the driver a wider view of the road ahead. 1955 Chevrolets may be seen at the Auto Show at the Armory this week.

STREAMLINED symmetry of the 1955 Oldsmobile is embodied in this Series "98" four-door sedan with its two-tone flying colors styling. A stainless steel moulding that dips gracefully from the rear door toward the taillights, then sweeps forward past the front wheel opening, provides the color separation. This two-tone color styling is optional at extra cost. The 1955 Oldsmobile will be on display at the Auto Show at the Armory on Friday and Saturday.

THE LONG, LOW, distinctive styling of the Studebaker hard-top convertible that has proved so popular throughout the world is accentuated in the new 1955 models by the sweeping effect of chrome side mouldings that extend from the headlights, above the massive appearing grille, to the newly styled tail lights. The flowing lines of this President state model are further brought out by hood and fender ornaments. The interiors are styled in diamond pattern nylon and rayon upholstery complementary colors. Elegance of interior appointments and trim adds to the luxury of the high styling. The new Studebaker "Wildcat" V-8 engine with 175 horsepower gives this model a superior performance and roadability.

MRS. DONALD Hartman and daughter Donna have been ill with virus infections.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Stadden, Mrs. Leo Broderick and Mrs. John K. Connors attended the spaghetti supper at the Mt. Pocono Catholic Church on Thursday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Field and son Tommy were Saturday visitors in Allentown.

Local birthday celebrants this week include Oscar Slutter, Feb. 7; Robert Beehler, Feb. 8; John Hartman, Feb. 12.

Mrs. John K. Connors was the weekend guest of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Broderick of Reiders.

Dorothy Possinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Possinger, has been ill at her home for several weeks with a gland infection.

The Feb. 2 meeting of Den 1 of Cub Pack 84 was not held on that date because of hazardous road conditions being postponed until Feb. 4 when the Cubs met at the St. John's Lutheran parish house. Plans were made to participate in the Cavalcade of Scouting to be held at the Penn. Stroud Garage on Feb. 12 and also to attend church services on Feb. 6 the first day of Boy Scout week.

Ideas for the Blue and Gold banquet which will be held at the Hamilton Elementary School in Sciota at 6:00 p.m. on Feb. 26 were discussed.

The February theme "Freedom" was introduced, a story was read and the group started to learn a new song after which the boys continued their January project "Trains," in which they have become deeply interested.

Refreshments of cookies, provided by the parents of the children, were served.

Those present were Allan Mader, Wayne Bond, David Edinger, James Possinger, David Wilkins, Barry Schuler, Carl Shafer, Larry Edinger and the Den mothers, Mrs. Russell Bond and Mrs. Robert Field.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Coss visited Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Heller, of Bethlehem, on Sunday. Mr. Heller, who was hospitalized, is now reported in fair condition.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Bond and son Wayne, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schuler and son, Barry, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Shafer and son, Carl and daughter Polly, Mr. and Mrs. John Edinger and sons, David and Larry; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Field and son, John; Mr. and Mrs. Leon Mader and son, Allan; Mrs. Albert Schollhammer and son, Henry; Mrs. John Wilkins and son, David; Benjamin Possinger and son, James, and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Mader attended the recent meeting of Pack 84 of Cub Scouts at the Hamilton Elementary School, Sciota, when Wayne Bond, Barry Schuler, Carl Shafer, David Edinger, Allan Mader, David Wilkins, Henry Schollhammer and James Possinger of Local Den 1, received their membership certificates and Bobcat pins.

Larry Oltmann, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Oltmann, celebrated his fourth birthday on Jan. 31.

Mrs. John Connors was a birthday celebrant on Feb. 2, and Vernon Frailey on Feb. 3.

Kiwanis Club Honors Two Ex-Presidents

WASHINGTON'S and Lincoln's birthdays were observed at the meeting of the Stroudsburg Kiwanis Club at the Penn-Stroud Hotel yesterday afternoon.

The program, however, was different from the usual, Dr. LeRoy J. Koehler, speaker, instead of dwelling on the lives of the two great leaders, showed colored slides taken by him on his trip to the Pacific coast last October accompanied by his wife.

Most of the slides were taken in the state of Washington, which was admitted to statehood on Washington's birthday in 1889. Some were taken in Virginia also. Dr. Koehler described the scenes. Dr. Francis B. McGarry operated the projector.

An invitation was received from the Old York Road Club to visit that club March 10 at 6:30 p. m. on the occasion of the official visit of Don E. Engdahl, president of Kiwanis International. A total of 78 clubs have been invited to participate in the event.

President Detlef A. Hansen welcomed back to the club J. J. Cowley, who had been hospitalized, also C. Edward DePuy, home from a trip to South America with his wife.

A letter was read from Eddie Erdelatz, head coach of the Navy football team, winner of the Sugar Bowl game last New Year's Day, acknowledging the letter of good wishes sent to him by the Stroudsburg club preceding the game.

Guests welcomed by President Hansen were R. C. Blaney, member of the State College Kiwanis club; Alfred Stuckert, of Allentown, and A. E. Ifft, Stroudsburg.

J. Richard Altomose was reported under observation at the Robert Packer Hospital, Sayre Pa.

The song period was in charge of Dr. Earl Willhoite and Numa J. Snyder.

Even the bumps are smoother in the '55 Buick ride

HOTTEST BUICK IN HISTORY

No wonder you see so many 1955 Buicks on the highways—they're selling up bigger sales than ever in history—tapping the popularity that has already made Buick one of the "Big Three."

To be honest—there are some bumps which nothing will level out completely.

Yet even the real rough ones turn out a lot smoother when you're in a 1955 Buick.

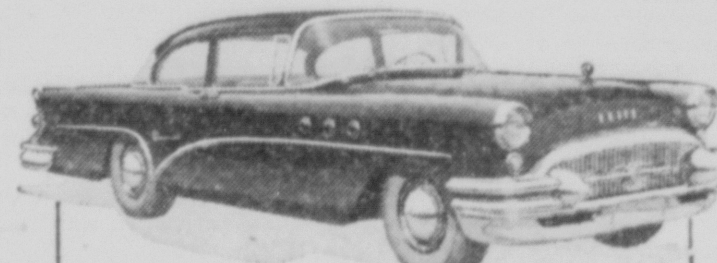

And that's not just our say-so. New owners of these new beauties keep telling us that.

So you may wonder—how come? What's different about the Buick ride that makes it such a marvel? The answer is—plenty.

Most cars have coil springs on front wheels only. Buick has them all around—and this year they're newly calibrated for even deeper smothering of jounce and jar. So here your ride is balanced, buoyant, level, serenely smooth.

Most cars drive through the rear springs. Buick drives through a torque-tube that takes up all driving thrust, wipes out rear-wheel wiggle and wag, steadies your going to a sure and solid track.

And no other car in all America has these great comfort extras plus the backbone of a massive X-braced frame plus both direct and lever-type shock absorbers to snub after-bounce plus a special front-end geometry to stabilize "cornering" plus tubeless tires on extra-wide rims for softer, steadier riding.

Surely, you owe it to yourself to try this great Buick travel, just to judge things for yourself.

You'll find it the nearest thing to velvet on wheels—and made even more so by the silkiness of record-high V8 power and the absolute smoothness of Variable Pitch Dynaflo.® Come visit us this week—for sure.

South Africa Empties Negro Settlement

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, Feb. 9 (AP)—Troops and police, joining forces in a blinding rain, moved hundreds of sullen Negroes today from a ramshackle settlement on Johannesburg's outskirts that is doomed under the government's segregation policies.

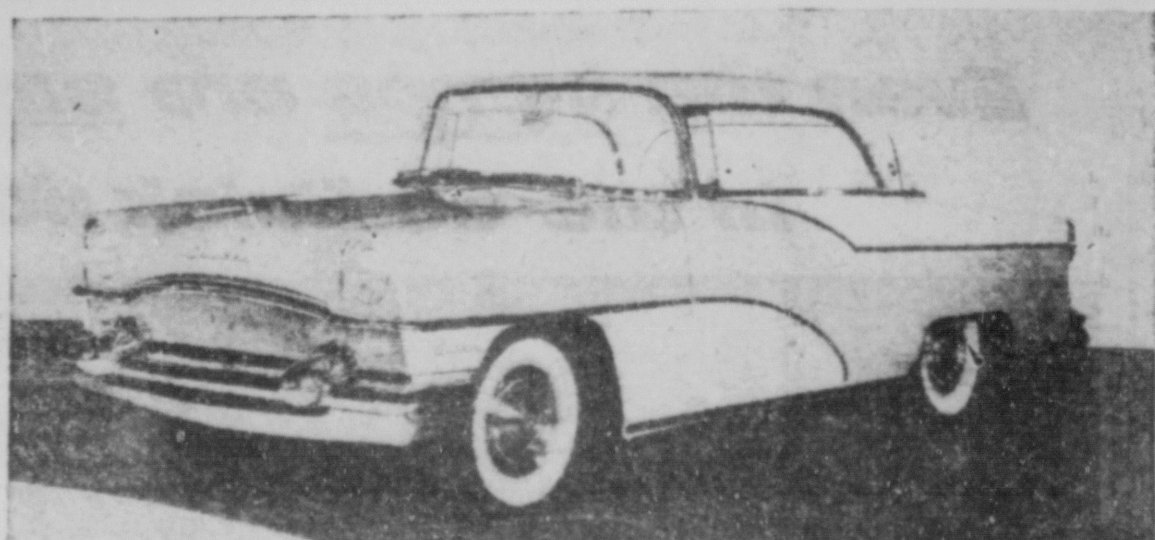

Nearly 2,000 armed men took part in the operation.

The move began three days ahead of schedule with a dawn sweep by the authorities on Sophiatown, a Negro settlement four miles outside the city limits. The rain-soaked men, women and children were taken to the new government-built township of Meadowlands, 14 miles from the city. The government has promised it will be a model community for non-whites.

But many of the Negroes were warned in advance last night by a hooded mystery man. In a raging thunderstorm, they carried their children and furniture deeper into the poverty-stricken condemned area rather than go to Meadowlands which they regard as a symbol of continued segregation. The mystery man, apparently a leader of the African National Congress and wanted by police for helping organize a resistance campaign, drove an automobile. Occasionally he got out and walked to dim, wet alleys to whisper instructions.

Sophiatown is in the path of the advancing white suburb of Westdene. Under the racial segregation policies of Prime Minister Johannes G. Strijdom's National party government, it must go. The government calls the move from Sophiatown town clearance. The area cleared will be used for white residences and factories.

The average seven-inch lead pencil will draw a line more than 35 miles long.

A REVOLUTIONARY new suspension system which eliminates coil and leaf springs and new V-8 engines with the highest horsepower for automobiles are the outstanding advances of the 1955 Packards and Clippers. Heading the Clipper line of five models for the medium priced field is the Constellation hard-top (above). The new Packard Clipper will be on display at the Automobile Show at the Armory this Friday and Saturday.

PLYMOUTH'S completely new 1955 cars are lower, wider and more than 10 inches longer than previous models. With either a PowerFlow Six or Hy-Fire V-8 engine, they are the most powerful cars Plymouth has ever built. They are available with a full range of automatic and power-assist devices, including electric window lifts and power front seat adjustment. Pictured here is the Belvedere 4-door sedan. 1955 Plymouth models may be seen at the Auto Show at the Armory this week-end.

AMONG THE MANY distinguishing styling features of the 1955 Cadillac Series 62 four-door Sedan are: Florentine curve rear window styling similar to the Series 62 Coupe and Coupe de Ville; integral rear fenders, and a redesigned bright chrome and stainless steel cellular grille with grille extensions. The 1955 Cadillac Series 62 Sedan is powered by a 250 horsepower high compression V-8 Cadillac engine. The 1955 Cadillac is being shown by Mike Motors.

Tachen Natives Leave Little Besides Dogs For Communists

By JIM BECKER
BIG SUN HAT VILLAGE, Lower Tachen Island, Feb. 9 (AP)—Civilians and soldiers on this Nationalist island feasted last night. Only dogs will be left behind for the Communists.

As night fell, engulfing the guardian U.S. 7th Fleet, bonfires lit the island. Civilians were roasting pigs, sheep, chickens and ducks which they are not allowed to take with them.

Soldiers bought some of the livestock and had feasts of their own.

Some of the old Chinese waiting for the ships to come and get them were queuing, which the rulers on the mainland ordered cut off in 1911.

Citizens of this 1,000-year-old village, which once was a headquarters for pirates, say every civilian except one is leaving. Good riddance to him, they said. They reported he was an opium peddler.

A leathery, wrinkled old woman squatted on the stone steps of a boarded up shop. Beside her was her son, dressed in padded blue cotton and muddy tennis shoes.

Over the son's shoulder was hung a bamboo pole with two enormous bundles bobbing from the ends—all the possessions he and his mother would take to Formosa.

The old woman said she and her son were leaving these islands for the first time only because "the fishermen here have told us what the Communists have done on the mainland."

"I have two good hands," said

the son, "and I can make a living."

The long line moved slowly toward the beach where small boats were carrying refugees to transports anchored in the muddy channel.

The people carried pots, pans, sacks of rice and personal belongings. Many waved small Nationalist flags.

Young men carried the aged and the invalids. Mothers carried children strapped to their backs.

Able-bodied men helped the soldiers carry ammunition and supplies to the beaches for the military withdrawal which will begin as soon as the last civilians are gone.

Behind them, the civilians had left signs faint on walls for the Communists: "To Heli With Mao Tse-tung," the Chinese Communist ruler and "We Will Be Back."

As they waited in line, the sound of explosions roared up from the harbor and clouds of dirt and debris flew high in the air.

The Nationalists were blowing up the harbor defenses so the Communists will find little of value when they come.

LOLLIPOP LANGUAGE

FRENCH CAN BE FUN, especially if it's taught the way that Mlle. Nicole Herpeux does it at Oberlin, O., college. Twice weekly the Paris miss gives a class of first and second graders a taste of very elementary French and smart students get a taste of something else—lollipops. Under her reward system, a small-fry student gets poker chips for good pronunciation and correct answers. Ten poker chips can then be turned in for one lollipop. Mlle. Herpeux has them recognizing numbers, colors and coins as well as singing songs and reciting sentences. A Fulbright scholar, she now is an assistant in the school's French department. Her class is part of parent-approved experiment in foreign language lessons given at elementary school level.

Oberlin youngsters too young to spell in English can call it by its French name.

Mlle. Herpeux is going to give Sally Cramer a lollipop for poker chips she earned.

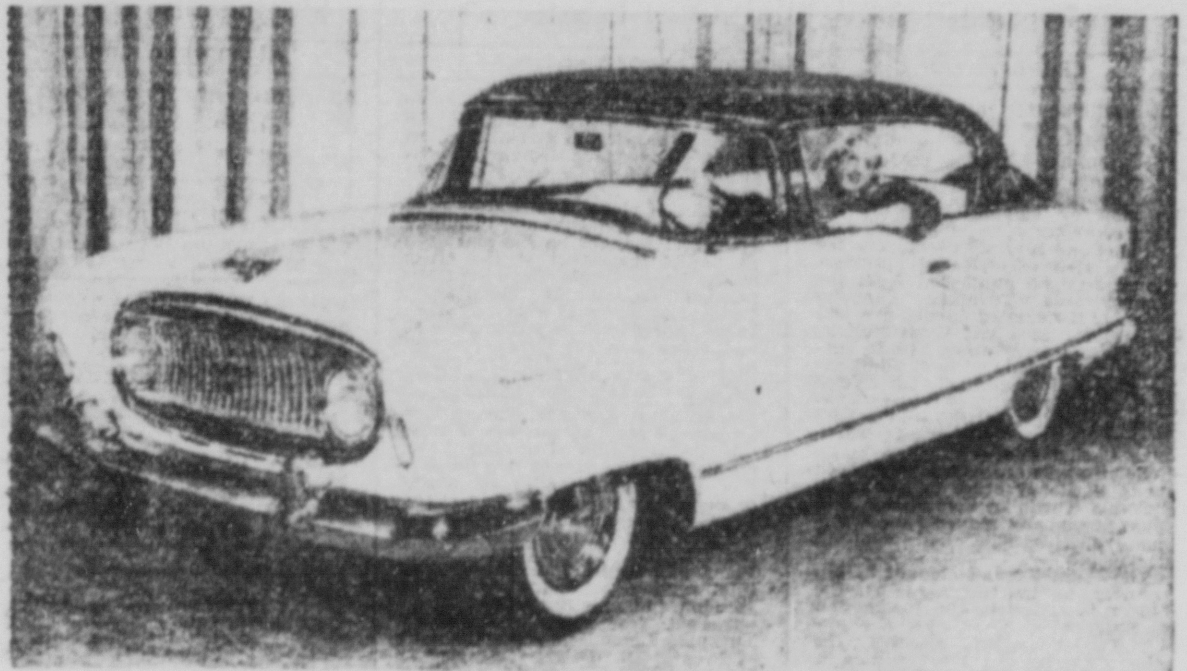

Singing is a ritual in class. Mlle. Herpeux checks on the correct pronunciation.

SLEEK NEW styling and record-high horsepower make the Buick Special four-door sedan for 1955 a stand-out in the lower priced field. Its V-8 power plant has been increased to an all-time high of 188 horsepower which, with Buick's new Variable Pitch Dynaflo transmission, gives the Special performance and maneuverability unequalled by any automobile in its field. Setting a new styling trend are a wide-screen grille and a roll-edge bumper with sturdy dual wing guards. For the first time, Buick's choice selection of power assists—power brakes, power steering, window lifts and front seat adjustment—are available as optional equipment on the Special. 1955 Buicks maybe seen at the Automobile Show at the Armory this Friday and Saturday.

THE NEW 1955 Nash Ambassador and Statesman models feature distinctive modern styling and a new Ambassador V-8 engine with Twin Ultramatic drive. Shown is the 1955 Ambassador Country Club Hardtop, which is available with the new 208 horsepower Jetfire V-8 engine. The Ambassador and Statesman models feature a newly-designed "Scena-Ramic" wrap-around windshield, die-cast grille with inboard headlights, and forward-thrusting fenders, presenting a new appearance among American cars. Completely new interior trim and upholstery and exterior colors are offered in the 1955 Nash line. The 1955 Nash will be shown for the first time at the Auto Show at the Armory on Friday and Saturday.

St. Augustine, Fla., will celebrate its 400th birthday in only 10 years.

State Forest Nurseries To Furnish Trees

DISTRICT FORESTER E. C. Pye announced yesterday that the Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters will again furnish tree seedlings for reforestation at the production cost of $4 per thousand.

To date only 6,000 trees have been ordered for planting in the Delaware Forest District comprising Pike, Monroe and Northampton Counties. Usually between three and four hundred thousand are planted in the district each year.

About 18,000,000 trees will be ready for shipment in April from nurseries in Huntingdon, Clearfield and Franklin Counties.

Good supplies are available for white pine, Norway spruce, hemlock, sugar maple and black walnut.

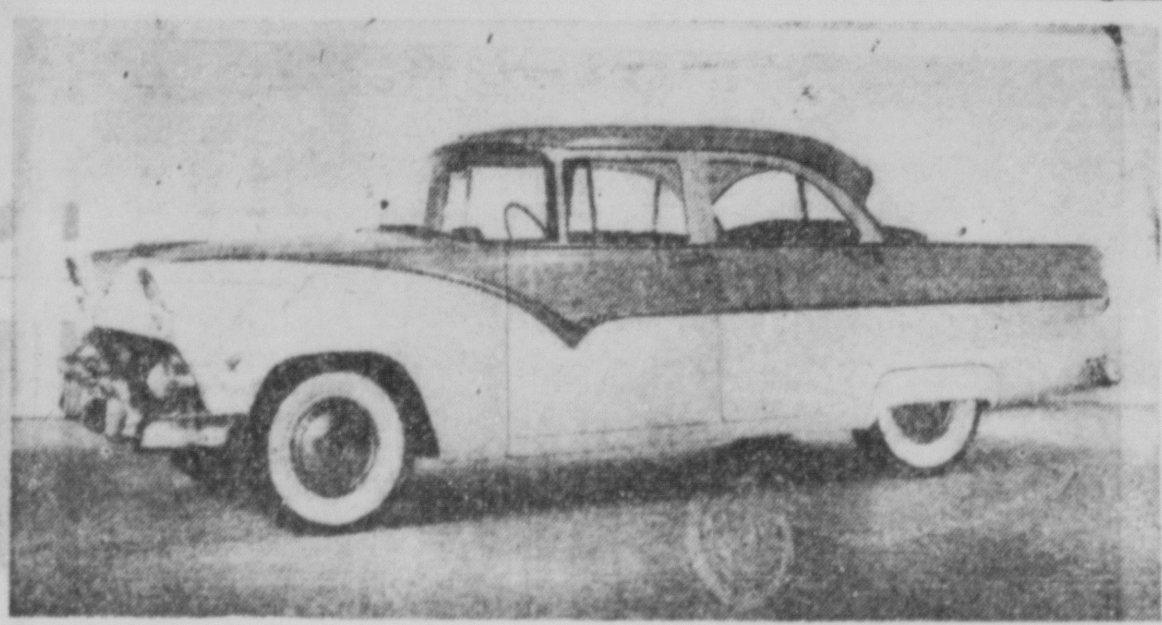

Planting the tree seedlings at an 8 by 8-foot spacing requires about 700 trees per acre. Usually the seedlings furnished are from 4 inches to 12 inches in height. They can be easily planted using a small mattock and carrying the trees in a bucket. About 600 are planted in an eight-hour day and good results are obtained without further attention unless a heavy weed and grass growth is present.

Seedlings are sold in a minimum quantity of 1,000. To obtain them send a postal to the District Forester, E. C. Pye, 1081 W. Main St., Stroudsburg. A regular order form will be mailed together with a booklet, "Planting Forest Trees." After the order is placed, trees are shipped express collect from the nurseries at the proper planting time.

Agree On Patronage

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (P)—Pennsylvania Republicans and their state chairman, Miles Horst, have agreed on a patronage plan that they hope will result in more Pennsylvanians getting federal jobs.

The recorder, a flute-like instrument, is now being played by approximately 250,000 people.

FORD'S LONGER, lower body style and wrap-around windshield, available on all models, is shown above in the Fairlane four-door sedan. The '55 Fords are available with Y-Block V-8 or I-Block Six power, and Fairlane models have dual exhaust as standard equipment. The 1955 Ford may be seen at the Auto Show at the Armory this Friday and Saturday.

Congressmen Fortunate In Being Able To Set Own Salaries But They're Not Keen On Job

By Arthur Edson

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (P)—Off-hand, a congressman's lot would appear to be a happy one. For he is among the comparatively few persons in the fortunate position of determining his own salary.

Yet congressmen never have been too keen about this part of their job. That's been true from the first Congress, when members decided they were worth $6 a day, but only on days when they showed up for work, to the present Congress, which looks to be about ready to hand itself a $7,500 to $10,000 annual raise.

The U. S. Constitution, no less, says:

"The senators and representatives shall receive a compensation for their services to be ascertained by law, and paid out of the Treasury of the United States."

That's what Congress is doing right now, trying to ascertain how much it is legally worth.

Congress never is comfortable about raising its own pay. What shall it profit a congressman to vote himself a raise if that should miff the voters and he winds up with no job at all?

Those who favor an increase say congressmen have fallen steadily behind since they got their last increase, in 1946. Rep. Victor Wickersham (D) of Mangum, Okla., has said that, on the average, a congressman's expenses are so great the job costs him $3,900 a year.

No one thinks much about it, but money often has been a problem for federal officials. Even Washington, whose Mount Vernon estate of 8,251 acres stretched for four miles along the Potomac, often was desperate for cash.

On the day Congress met, March 4, 1789, Washington asked a wealthy Alexandria, Va., resident for a loan of 500 pounds. Washington offered security and 6 per cent interest.

He needed the money, he said, for pressing debts and to pay for the trip to New York so he could become President of the new United States.

Kintner Named Speaker For Easton Dinner

ROBERT E. KINTNER, a native of Stroudsburg who became the youngest man elected president of a major broadcasting network, will speak at the annual dinner meeting of the Easton Area Chamber of Commerce in Hotel Easton on March 2.

Kintner, who is 45, has headed the American Broadcasting Co. since 1949.

The son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kintner, of Stroudsburg, he was graduated from Stroudsburg High School in 1927 and later received a degree from Swarthmore College. He received his early newspaper training on the staff of The Daily Record.

In 1930, he was named "Pennsylvania Ambassador" in connection with Pennsylvania Week in Monroe County.

After a period on the editorial staff of the New York Herald Tribune, Kintner became Washington correspondent for that newspaper and later joined Joseph Alsop in writing a syndicated column.

He joined the Army in 1941, serving overseas and with the War Department's public relations staff in Washington. He received a medical discharge in 1944 as a lieutenant colonel, and received the Legion of Merit.

In that year he joined ABC as a vice president in charge of programming, public services, public relations and advertising. He became executive vice president in 1946.

He has co-authored articles for the Saturday Evening Post and with Alsop has helped write the books, "Men Around the President" and "Washington White Paper."

He is married to the former Joanne Rodney. They have three children, Susan, Michael and a son who was born last Sunday.

Former Judge Lions Speaker

FORMER JUDGE James F. McGovern, of Jersey City, N. J., traced the origin of service clubs from the early days of the Roman Empire in an address at the Lions Club meeting Tuesday night at the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

The speaker reminded the club members of their obligations as Lions and as Americans. He also dwelt on the steady growth of Lionism throughout 62 countries until today, Lions International is the largest club of its kind in the world.

The former judge was introduced by Program Chairman Joseph McCuskey, Club President Ed Driebe was in charge of the meeting.

Guests present were Joseph McCuskey and Walter Geiger, of Hoboken, N. J., and Angelo Marasco.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

AS NEW AT ITS NAME is the "styled for tomorrow" DeSoto Firelite series introduced for the first time for 1955. This all-new four-door model is lower, longer, roomier and has the most powerful engine built by DeSoto—the 200 horsepower Firelite hemispherical combustion V-8. Completely new are such features as "New Horizon" full wrap-around windshield, low-silhouette "forward motion" body design, "Flite Control" gear selector mounted on the dash, interior colors, fabrics and trim. Available also are such DeSoto exclusives as Powerlite transmission, Full-Time, coaxial-type power steering, Power Brakes and Air-temp air conditioning. The 1955 DeSoto is being shown in the Auto Show at the Armory this Friday and Saturday.

Russia Never Fails To Act Tough Just When West Needs Shot In Arm To Cement Unity

By J. M. Roberts
Associated Press News Analyst

The Russians have done it again.

For several days, since the fall of the Mendes-France Cabinet in France, proponents of the Paris agreements on rearmament of Germany have feared for their success.

German opponents of the step had taken on new life. Chancellor Adenauer began an intense campaign for popular support, realizing he was running a close race.

The French internal situation was such that nobody knew what would happen. By any slight amendment the Council of the Republic, weak counterpart of the British House of Lords in the French parliamentary system, could send the proposals back to a widely divided Assembly which had passed them originally only under great pressure from Mendes-France.

The uncertainty has by no means been resolved. But Tuesday's shift in the Soviet government, emphasizing the "tough line" and accompanied by bombast and military threats against the West, was immediately hailed by supporters of the Western Alliance as having put the neutralists and the doubters on the spot.

I often wish that I had started making a list, at the beginning of the cold war, of the number of times that Russian actions have caused a stiffening of Western in-

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

Sealed proposals will be received by the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission through the Chairman, 11 North Fourth Street, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, until 10:00 a. m., Tuesday, February 15, 1955, for the construction of the T. J. Evans Tunnel, Section 301E, part of the Northeastern Extension of the Pennsylvania Turnpike in Lehigh and Carbon Counties, Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. This section being situated as follows:

Beginning at a point approximately 2,700 feet northwest of the center line intersection of the center line of the Lehigh and New England Railroad in East Penn Township, Lehigh County, Pennsylvania, and extending in a westerly direction 4,641.69 linear feet through an equality at the County Line, to Turpike Station 25+12.26, equal to 1,288.91 feet at a point approximately 1,482 linear feet southeast of the center line intersection of the Lehigh and New England Railroad in East Penn Township, Lehigh County, Pennsylvania, a distance of approximately 6,888 miles.

The approximate quantities of the principal items are as follows:

Rock Excavation in Tunnel: 122,600 cubic yards

Shut Excavation and Appendages: 1,300,000 pounds

Portland Cement: 78,000 barrels

Tunnel Lining: 27,000 cubic yards

Tunnel Ceiling: 2,500 cubic yards

Sidewalk, etc.: 1,200 cubic yards

Reinforcement Bars: 1,500,000 lbs.

Grout: 128,000 cubic yards

Collar Ties: 124,000 square feet

Reinforced Concrete Pavement: 11,600 square yards

Copies of plans, specifications and other contract documents, including cross-sections, are on file and open to public inspection at the office of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission, located at Harrisburg, Pennsylvania on 28 January 1955. Plans, specifications, cross-sections and other contract documents will be available by this date for inspection or for mailing to prospective bidders. Copies of Specifications for grading, drainage, paving and structures may be purchased from the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission, located at Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, on 15 February 1955. A Proposed Budget of Rock Township Road Board has been prepared and is available for Public Inspection at the home of the Secretary, Arlie W. Kresge, RD1, Saylorsburg, Pa., until March 3, 1955, after that time it will be adopted.

NOTICE is hereby given pursuant to Section 2 of the Act of June 25, 1947, P. L. 1145, as amended, that the Council of the Borough of Stroudsburg, Monroe County, Pennsylvania, intends to amend its ordinance levying a $3.00 per capita tax for borough purposes at a meeting to be held March 2, 1955. The reason which, in the judgment of the Council of the said Borough of Stroudsburg, necessitates the imposition of the tax is that the revenues of the said Borough of Stroudsburg from other taxes and sources are insufficient to pay the operating expenses of the Borough. The amount of the revenue estimated to be received from said tax is $14,000.00.

Humidity Is Problem In Winter Too

By DAVID G. BAREUTHER
AP Real Estate Editor

IT TAKES MORE than temperature to keep a house comfortable. You may have felt chilly recently when your thermometer registered 70 or 75 degrees. Why is that?

Well, we aren't going to plug red flannel underwear, but we'd like to bet that you never heard anyone turn that old summer bromide around and say "It's not the cold; it's the humidity."

Believe it or not, the humidity or lack of it can be to blame. And this can cost you a lot in fuel.

More people seem to be bothered by this humidity problem in the winter than during the summer months. When the weather is hot, we all seem to be in a fog anyway. But at this time of the year the mail is heavy with complaints ranging from houses reeking with moisture—with "sweating" windows spoiling painted woodwork and wallpaper—to homes so dry that furniture falls apart and mysterious nosebleeds occur.

Both types of letters come from the same towns and the same neighborhoods. There are various reasons.

New houses are naturally full of moisture. It can take a few years for them to dry out. Old houses are so dry they're thirsty for moisture. Unregulated humidifiers on heating plants are no answer to such problems.

In recent weeks this writer sampled the weather people complained about. Starting from below freezing in the Connecticut area, we encountered a wide range of temperatures down the East Coast. There was fog on the windows in Florida, then 87 in Cuba, back to zero around Chicago, and down to 18 below in Minnesota. Brother, we can sympathize.

But we never happened to find a hygrometer or humidistat in use in any house we visited in that big area. We probably just visited the wrong homes.

Those two instruments can be just as useful as thermometers. A hygrometer, for instance, shows fairly accurately how much moisture the air in your house contains. It works similarly to a thermometer, only instead of registering degrees, it registers the percentage of relative humidity.

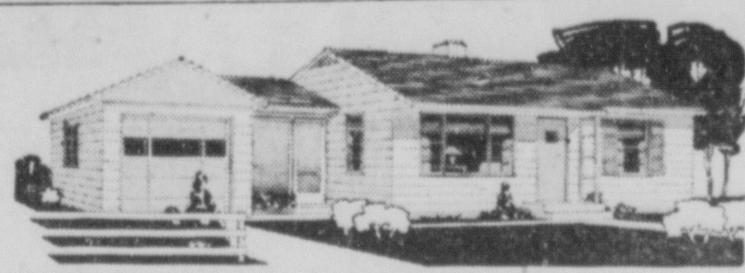

This is based on the amount of moisture the air can hold without causing a rainstorm at various degrees of temperature. At 70 degrees, for example, a cubic foot of air is supposed to hold 8 grains of water without dripping it. If that cube contains only 2 grains, or one-quarter its capacity, your hygrometer should register 25 per cent.

Norma Finucane, who is the home economist for the Taylor Instrument companies in Rochester, N. Y., was telling us recently what this can mean in physical comfort. "With the so-called ideal temperature of 72 degrees," she said, "a relative humidity of 25 per cent which is dry air, can cause us to feel cold, while at the same temperature, a relative humidity of 80 per cent, which is wet air, will produce a warm discomfort."

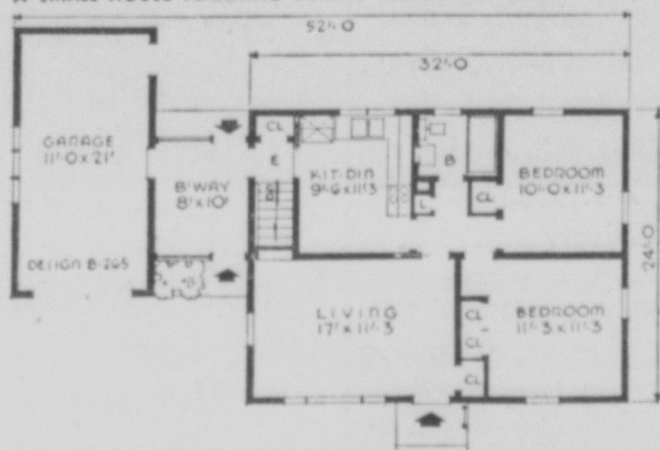

The ideal balance, she contends, is a relative humidity of about 50 per cent when the indoor temperature is 72 degrees.

A humidistat goes the hygrometer one step more. It registers the humidity and regulates the humidifier on a heating plant accordingly. Humidistats are so sensitive they react to the moisture in your breath. We tried that at a recent Minneapolis exhibit.

You can get combination thermometer-hygrometers from around

A SMALL HOUSE PLANNING BUREAU DESIGN NO. B-265

DESIGN B-265—This plan has a central hall connecting all rooms. For economical construction and simple framing, all wall projections and roof dormers have been omitted. The laundry is located under the bathroom so that all plumbing pipes are concentrated in one wall. The chimney is centrally located. Other features include coat closets at both entrances, wardrobe closets and linen cabinet. Dining space is provided in the kitchen. There are book shelves over the stairs. The attached garage can be omitted if desired. Exterior finish consists of wide siding, asphalt shingles, 2" x 6" overhang above picture window and a screened breezeway. Floor area is 768 sq. ft. with cubage of 14,592 cu. ft., not including garage. For further information about DESIGN B-265, write the Small House Planning Bureau, St. Cloud, Minn. ## Convactor Radiators Help Eliminate Cold Floors

IN SPITE OF THE fact that when you have cold feet you're supposed to be lacking in courage, there's also another meaning to the expression. Many people today are suffering from cold feet within their own homes, and the fault lies largely with the heating system.

Cold floors in the old days were accepted as a necessary evil. Children were seldom allowed to play on the floor for that reason and father and mother used to complain about drafts. Improvements in home heating during the last 20 years have largely eliminated the layers of air which kept rooms comfortable at the upper levels, but cold at the floor line. It is wise to take advantage of these improvements in building a new home or modernizing an old one.

Among some of the newer heating devices replacing old equipment are modern convactor radiators. Convectors use natural convection to promote gentle, draftless circulation of warmed air without the use of motors, blowers or other moving parts. Hot water or steam moving through the copper or aluminum heating unit within the convactor enclosure, warms the air directly above it.

Being lighter, the warmer air rises in the room through the outlet grill. Floorline air is drawn in naturally through the lower opening and the process is repeated, so that circulation through the enclosure is entirely by "chimney action," or convection.

Room air is circulated through convectors on an average of three times an hour, and this discourages stratification and wide variations in ceiling-to-floor temperatures. It furthermore counters air staleness, promoting a "fresh air" sensation, desirable in any heated room.

Most modern convectors are equipped with easily accessible dampers to provide almost exact controllability of temperatures. In a couple of dollars up. Humidistats, being electrically wired, naturally run higher.

In summer, of course, humidity is just as big a factor in home comfort. With air conditioning, you don't have to lower the temperature of a house so much as you have to dehumidify the air. Cut the temperature less than 10 degrees, but lower the humidity, and you'll keep cool.

However, humidity isn't the whole story, say the engineers of the Lennox Furnace Co. After studying this problem of keeping the fidgety from complaining, these experts suggest four procedures in this order:

1. Keep the air in gentle, almost imperceptible motion.
2. Maintain the proper amount of humidity.
3. Filter and clean the air.
4. Prevent staleness by a proper admixture of fresh air.

Now we all can put on airs.

Helpful Hints For Chimney Construction

THERE ARE two considerations to be borne in mind when building chimneys for a house. These are: (1) Will they provide a draft for the fires they serve, and (2) are they so built as not to be a fire hazard?

Each fire must have its own separate flue to insure the proper functioning of the chimney as a vent. In addition, the cross-section area of each flue must be adequate for the fire it serves. The top of the chimney must be at least two feet higher than the highest ridge of the house.

Flues should be as straight as possible. Where bends occur, they should be gradual.

Each flue should be lined with regulation tile flue lining, with all joints completely filled, to make the chimney fire safe. At least four inches of brickwork or concrete should surround the flues.

In arrangements where there are two flues to a chimney, they may be placed side by side without any other division than the walls of the flue linings themselves. However, the joints of these tiles should be staggered so that the possibility of air leaks from one flue to the next is eliminated.

There should be no woodwork closer than two inches to any chimney. All spaces between the wood frame and the masonry where a floor should be filled with non-inflammable material.

Caution For Painting

THE MAIN trouble with some amateur painters is they are so anxious to get their work done they are apt to put the second coat of paint on the article before the first coat has entirely dried out, and this always results in unsatisfactory work. Be sure the paint is absolutely dry before applying that second coat.

moderate weather, it is possible to completely close the damper and trap the heated air completely within the enclosure, thus providing mild, radiant heat alone.

Adequate Wiring Considered Important To Home Buyer

THE CONSTANT ADDITION of new and improved electrical home appliances and increased emphasis on proper home light conditioning in recent years, has created a definite need for homeowners and prospective home buyers to pay full heed to electric wiring adequacy.

Shortsightedness has resulted in a great many existing homes, and even a good percentage of those currently going up, being equipped with a standard of wiring which fails to take into consideration either the full present-day potential, or possible future power requirements.

This problem of adequate wiring recently was brought into focus by the National Adequate Wiring Bureau, an electrical industry group that has been advocating that higher minimum standards be set for electrical wiring commensurate with heavy power needs.

In fact, the National Assn. of Home Builders in recognition of today's added power requirements in the electrically equipped home, has adopted a voluntary minimum standard.

This has been set at a 100-ampere entrance service, designed to meet not only the present homeowners needs, but also to allow some leeway for those unforeseen additional power demands that may be expected to develop in the not too distant future, judging from the rapid advances in all fields these days.

It is pointed out that this voluntary standard of 100 amperes will assure the homeowner of an electrical system providing sufficient power to support heavy duty circuits for air-conditioning equipment, electric range, clothes dryer, and the many other appliances as well.

Such home equipment, because of its heavy power drain, cannot be used where wiring meets only

How To Repair Top Of Chimney

THE MORTAR frequently drops out from between the bricks near the top of a chimney. In such a case, rake out the mortar to a depth of a half inch or so and brush out all loose particles. Wet the inner surfaces of all the open joints thoroughly, then pack them with fairly stiff mortar mixture consisting of one part portland cement and three parts clean, coarse sand. It might be wise to have a mason contractor do the work.

Fill Cracks In Stucco

LARGE CRACKS in stucco should be filled with an exterior crack filler before paint is applied.

the existing 30-ampere minimum standard, and 60 amperes offers little to spare for the future.

WIL-BOND before Repainting

A glossy varnished or enameled surface should be cleaned and dulled before repainting. It's easy with WIL-BOND. Just dampen a rag with this liquid and rub down the surface. Off come wax, grease and dirt—and the gloss is thoroughly dulled. The new finish spreads smoothly and adheres perfectly—no danger of a streaky, unsightly result.
